Africa in Translation Sara Pugach,2012-01-03 Africa in Translation is a thoughtful contribution to the literature on colonialism and culture in Germany and will find readers in the fields of German history and German studies as well as appealing to audiences in the large and interdisciplinary fields of colonialism and postcolonialism Jennifer Jenkins University of Toronto The study of African languages in Germany or Afrikanistik originated among Protestant missionaries in the early nineteenth century and was incorporated into German universities after Germany entered the Scramble for Africa and became a colonial power in the 1880s Despite its long history few know about the German literature on African languages or the prominence of Germans in the discipline of African philology In Africa in Translation A History of Colonial Linguistics in Germany and Beyond 1814 1945 Sara Pugach works to fill this gap arguing that Afrikanistik was essential to the construction of racist knowledge in Germany While in other countries biological explanations of African difference were central to

African studies the German approach was essentially linguistic linking language to culture and national identity Pugach traces this linguistic focus back to the missionaries belief that conversion could not occur unless the Word was allowed to touch a person s heart in his or her native language as well as to the connection between German missionaries living in Africa and armchair linguists in places like Berlin and Hamburg Over the years this resulted in Afrikanistik scholars using language and culture rather than biology to categorize African ethnic and racial groups Africa in Translation follows the history of Afrikanistik from its roots in the missionaries practical linguistic concerns to its development as an academic subject in both Germany and South Africa throughout the nineteenth and twentieth centuries Sara Pugach is Assistant Professor of History at California State University Los Angeles Jacket image Perthes Justus Mittel und S d Afrika Map Courtesy of the University of Michigan s Stephen S Clark Library map collection The Warburg Years \(1919-1933\) Ernst Cassirer,2013-11-26 Jewish German philosopher Ernst Cassirer was a leading proponent of the Marburg school of neo Kantianism The essays in this volume provide a window into Cassirer s discovery of the symbolic nature of human existence that our entire emotional and intellectual life is configured and formed through the originary expressive power of word and image that it is in and through the symbolic cultural systems of language art myth religion science and technology that human life realizes itself and attains not only its form its visibility but also its reality Thought and being are set in opposition and united in genuine correspondence by the symbolic strife between them that Cassirer calls Auseinandersetzung which determines the ethical relationship of the self to the other
