Differing Visions of a Learning Society Economic and Social Research Council, Learning Society (Programme), 2000

Differing Visions of a Learning Society Vol 1 Frank Coffield, 2000-07-26 This volume provides an examination of what is meant by the learning society and how it can contribute to the development of knowledge and skills for employment and other areas of adult life

Differing visions of a Learning Society Vol 2 Coffield, Frank, 2000-11-06 Is lifelong learning the big idea which will deliver economic prosperity and social justice Or will it prove to be another transient phenomenon Picture lifelong learning the editor suggests as making its way through three overlapping stages romance evidence and implementation Lifelong learning is tentatively entering the second stage where research evidence is beginning to challenge the vacuous rhetoric of the stage of romance The findings from the Economic and Social Research Council's programme of research into the Learning Society are presented in two volumes of which this is the second The editor Frank Coffield begins by surveying as a whole the findings of the 14 projects and summarises them in a number of recurrent themes and policy recommendations The chapters which follow present the aims methods findings and policy implications of six projects Volume 1 contains similar chapters on the other projects Taken together the conclusions suggest very different ways of thinking about a Learning Society and very different policies from those in operation at present The two volumes demonstrate from empirical evidence the continuing weaknesses of current policies and make proposals based on hard evidence for more effective structural changes This second volume presents findings from a national survey of the skills of British workers and it discusses both the meaning of the Learning Society for adults with learning difficulties and the use of social capital to explain patterns of lifelong learning Other chapters present for the first time five different trajectories of lifelong learning explore the determinants of participation and non participation in learning and examine innovation in Higher Education Finally two differing visions of a Learning Society are contrasted The first extrapolates existing policies and practices into the next 5 10 years and finds them seriously wanting The second option calls for more democracy rather than technocracy and develops a kaleidoscopic array of possible futures which find their source in the empirical work of the 14 projects These volumes are essential reading for politicians policy makers practitioners employers and all teachers with responsibility for lifelong learning

Learn to succeed Campbell, Mike, 2002-05-22 This is the first book to draw together the evidence on the case for skills and to examine the policies appropriate to achieving skills for all Learn to succeed argues that raising skill levels is crucial to both economic success and social inclusion demonstrates the benefits of higher skill levels to people to companies and to communities synthesises a wide range of materials in one convenient volume providing a reference source on the issues deals with the issues at both national and local levels sets out a clear agenda for action Learn to succeed is essential reading for policy makers and practitioners in national regional and local government departments and agencies and is also recommended for students and academics on courses at undergraduate and graduate level in applied economics education or public policy The Jossey-Bass Reader on Contemporary Issues in Adult Education Sharan B. Merriam, André P. Grace, 2011-02-23 THE JOSSEY BASS READER ON Contemporary Issues in Adult Education With contributions from leading experts in the field The Jossey Bass Reader on Contemporary Issues in Adult Education collects in one volume the best previously published literature on the issues and trends affecting adult education today The volume includes influential pieces from foundational authors in the profession such as Eduard C Lindeman Alain Locke and Paulo Freire as well as current work from authors around the world including Laura L Bierema John M Dirkx Cecilia Amaluisa Fiallos Peter Jarvis Michael Newman and Shirley Walters In five sections the book s thirty chapters delve into a wide range of compelling topics including social justice democracy and activism diversity and marginalization human resource development lifelong learning ethical issues the meaning and role of emotions globalization and non Western perspectives the role of mass media popular culture and social learning technology health welfare and environment Each piece is framed within its larger context by the editors and each section is accompanied by helpful reflection and discussion questions Policy and Power in Inclusive Education Jonathan Rix, 2005 The movement towards inclusive education is undoubtedly an international phenomenon and it has resulted in the development of policy initiatives impacting on schools in all nations This informative wide ranging text brings together key illustrative material from an international field It adopts a critical perspective on policy issues but goes beyond this by making explicit the assumptions that drive policy development Readers will be encouraged to develop their own framework allowing them to conduct policy analysis and evaluation within their own educational context Students and researchers interested in how principles of inclusive education are being translated into educational practices around the world will find this book an enlightening read Balancing the skills equation Hayward, Geoff, James, Susan, 2004-10-27 Governments worldwide assume that national competitiveness can be improved by developing workforce skills This book critically examines this high skills vision at both policy and practice levels It challenges an oversimplified policy rhetoric that underestimates the complexity of the processes involved in developing a skilled workforce The book focuses on key issues relating to the high skills agenda skills and political economy different investment strategies for producing skills qualification systems and learning A multidisciplinary team of authors from a range of disciplines including economics management and education provides the cross cutting international and comparative analysis Editorial comment links their explorations to wider questions of skill formation processes and overarching questions are addressed through in depth analysis of the roles of higher education apprenticeship and formal school learning in skill formation Higher Education and National Development David Bridges, Palmira Juceviciene, Roberta Jucevicius, Terence H. McLaughlin, Jolanta Stankeviciute, 2006-11-27 International contributors to this wide ranging text discuss the phenomenon of globalisation and its different aspects in relation to higher education but also in relation to moves by nation states to devolve government to regional and subregional bodies and the implications therein Creating a Learning Society? Stephen

Gorard, Gareth Rees, 2002 This book presents a highly innovative study of participation in lifelong learning and the problems which need to be overcome if lifelong learning policies are to be successful It provides a systematic analysis based on innovative empirical research of the social and economic realities which actually determine patterns of participation in lifelong learning shows what the factors are that shape people's participation or their decision not to participate offers new insights into the processes of lifelong learning which have important implications for the development of more effective policies Creating a learning society is a stimulating read for lifelong learning practitioners as well as policy makers and researchers in this field Adult Guidance Services and the Learning Society Will Bartlett, Teresa L. Rees, Anthony Gordon Watts, 2000 Adult guidance services the brokers between individuals and the labour and learning markets take on a new significance in the context of The Learning Society and the end of the job for life This unique book analyses contrasting approaches to the delivery of guidance services in the UK Germany Netherlands Italy and France focusing on the effects of marketisation and the impact of European Union policies The book compares services delivered through quasi markets with other regimes addressing key questions such as what effect do the new performance indicators have on who gets what what is happening to quality equity and professionalism what adult guidance service arrangements are the most effective to meet the needs of a learning society This book will be welcomed by academics and public policy analysts and all those interested in education training and the labour market in the European Union especially guidance policy makers and practitioners
