Linguistic Creativity in Japanese Discourse Senko K. Maynard, 2007 Using theoretical concepts of self perspective and voice as an interpretive guide and based on the Place of Negotiation theory this volume explores the phenomenon of linguistic creativity in Japanese discourse i e the use of language in specific ways for foregrounding personalized expressive meanings Personalized expressive meanings include psychological emotive interpersonal and rhetorical aspects of communication encompassing broad meanings such as feelings of intimacy or distance emotion empathy humor playfulness persona sense of self identity rhetorical effects and so on Nine analysis chapters explore the meanings functions and effects observable in the indices of linguistic creativity focusing on discourse creativity style mixture borrowing others styles genre mixture rhetorical creativity puns metaphors metaphors in multimodal discourse and grammatical creativity negatives demonstratives first person references Based on the analysis of verbal and visual data drawn from multiple genres of contemporary cultural discourse this work reveals that by creatively expressing in language we share our worlds from multiple perspectives we speak in self s and others many voices and we endlessly create personalized expressive meanings as testimony to our own sense of being

Mappings in Thought and Language Gilles Fauconnier, 1997-06-13 Meaning in everyday thought and language is constructed at lightning speed We are not conscious of the staggering complexity of the cognitive operations that drive our simplest behavior This 1997 book examines a central component of meaning construction the mappings that link mental spaces A deep result of the research is that the same principles operate at the highest levels of scientific artistic and literary thought and at the lower levels of elementary understanding and sentence meaning Some key cognitive operations are analogical mappings conceptual integration and blending discourse management induction and recursion The analyses are based on a rich array of attested data in ordinary language humor action and design science and narratives Phenomena that receive attention include counterfactuals time tense and mood opacity metaphor fictive motion grammatical constructions quantification over cognitive domains

Cognitive Linguistics: Basic Readings Dirk Geeraerts, 2008-08-22 Over the past decade Cognitive Linguistics has grown to be one of the most broadly appealing and dynamic frameworks for the study of natural language Essentially this new school of linguistics focuses on the meaning side of language linguistic form is analysed as an expression of meaning And meaning itself is not something that exists in isolation but it is integrated with the full spectrum of human experience the fact that we are embodied beings just as much as the fact that we are cultural beings Cognitive Linguistics Basic Readings brings together twelve foundational articles each of which introduces one of the basic concepts of Cognitive Linguistics like conceptual metaphor image schemas mental spaces construction grammar prototypicality and radial sets The collection features the founding fathers of Cognitive Linguistics George Lakoff Ron Langacker Len Talmy Gilles Fauconnier and Charles Fillmore together with some of the most influential younger scholars By its choice of seminal papers and leading authors Basic Readings is specifically suited for an introductory course in Cognitive Linguistics This is further supported by a general introduction to the theory and specifically the practice of Cognitive Linguistics and by trajectories for further reading that start out from the individual chapters Metonymy and Pragmatic Inferencing Klaus-Uwe Panther, Linda L. Thornburg, 2003-07-17 In recent years conceptual metonymy has been recognized as a cognitive phenomenon that is as fundamental as metaphor for reasoning and the construction of meaning The thoroughly revised chapters in the present volume originated as presentations in a workshop organized by the editors for the 7th International Pragmatics Conference held in Budapest in 2000 They constitute according to an anonymous reviewer an interesting contribution to both cognitive linguistics and pragmatics The contributions aim to bridge the gap and encourage discussion between cognitive linguists and scholars working in a pragmatic framework Topics include the metonymic basis of explicature and implicature the role of metonymically based inferences in speech act and discourse interpretation the pragmatic meaning of grammatical constructions the impact of metonymic mappings on and their interaction with grammatical structure the role of metonymic inferencing and implicature in linguistic change and the comparison of metonymic principles across languages and different cultural settings The Way We Think Gilles Fauconnier, Mark Turner, 2008-08-06 In its first two decades much of cognitive science focused on such mental functions as memory learning symbolic thought and language acquisition the functions in which the human mind most closely resembles a computer But humans are more than computers and the cutting edge research in cognitive science is increasingly focused on the more mysterious creative aspects of the mind The Way We Think is a landmark synthesis that exemplifies this new direction The theory of conceptual blending is already widely known in laboratories throughout the world this book is its definitive statement Gilles Fauconnier and Mark Turner argue that all learning and all thinking consist of blends of metaphors based on simple bodily experiences These blends are then themselves blended together into an increasingly rich structure that makes up our mental functioning in modern society A child's entire development consists of learning and navigating these blends The Way We Think shows how this blending operates how it is affected by and gives rise to language identity and concept of category and the rules by which we use blends to understand ideas that are new to us The result is a bold exciting and accessible new view of how the mind works Digging Your Own Grave B. L. Andrews, 1994 The fourth in a series of whimsical parodies offers a new collection of offbeat advice from the author of More Life's Little Destruction Book and Life's Little Frustration Book Original Semantic Leaps Seana Coulson, 2001-01-29 Semantic Leaps explores how people combine knowledge from different domains in order to understand and express new ideas Concentrating on dynamic aspects of on line meaning construction Coulson identifies two related sets of processes frame shifting and conceptual blending By addressing linguistic phenomena often ignored in traditional meaning research Coulson explains how processes of cross domain mapping frame shifting and conceptual blending enhance the explanatory adequacy of traditional frame based systems for natural language processing The focus is on how the constructive processes speakers use to assemble link and adapt simple cognitive models underlie a broad range of productive language behavior      HEARINGS BEFORE A
