Dilemmas Of Transition The Hungarian Experience:

Dilemmas of Transition Aurel Braun, Zoltan D. Barany, 1999 Exploring the controversies and problems surrounding post communist transitions this innovative volume brings together a distinguished group of political scientists economists historians and sociologists Within a strong theoretical framework the book moves between general issues of transitology and specific analyses Hungary a state that has weathered political and economic transition more successfully than most is used as the volume s case study for illuminating both comparative and regional issues By bridging the divide between area studies and comparative politics this book will be a key resource for advanced students and for scholars in East European post communist studies comparative politics and international relations Liberalization Challenges in Hungary U.

Korkut, 2012-06-18 In Hungary as in all of new Europe liberalization is troubled Using Hungary as an in depth case study Korkut demonstrates that in squandering popular goodwill credibility and favorable circumstances after 1989 liberal politicians have found themselves vulnerable to conservative populist politics and the global economic crisis Hungary's Crisis of Democracy Peter Wilkin, 2016-08-26 This book examines the crisis of democracy that has arisen in Hungary since the election of the Fidesz government in 2010 After moving swiftly to transform the Hungarian constitution Fidesz created a new political system which has led its critics to argue that the era of democracy in Hungary is over US Senator John McCain has gone so far as to describe Hungary as an illiberal democracy on a path toward fascism The author argues that Fidesz has sought to challenge the capitalist and democratic transformation that shaped Hungary for 20 years after the fall of communism by increasing the power of the state over crucial aspects of the economy society and the political system In so doing Fidesz actions resemble those undertaken by many authoritarian states that have emerged since the end of the Second World War all aiming to build up a national capitalism and protect their economies whilst undertaking nation building To make sense of this the author draws upon two traditions of thought world systems analysis which situates Hungary in the context of its incorporation in the modern capitalist world system after the fall of communism and anarchist social thought which provides a unique way of seeing the actions of states and political elites In so doing the book argues that the events unfolding in Hungary cannot be explained on the basis of Hungarian exceptionalism but must be situated in the broader political and economic context that has shaped the development of Hungary since 1990 The form of capitalism introduced in Hungary and across the region of East and Central Europe has systematically undermined the strong state and social security that had existed under communism and when added to the failure of the left and liberals in the region it has paved the way for far right and neo fascist political movements to emerge claiming the mantle of defenders of society from the market This represents a fundamental threat to the enlightenment traditions that have shaped dominant modern political ideologies and raises profound problems for both the EU and NATO Progress Toward the Unification of Europe

Helena Tang, 2000-01-01 Ten countries of Central and Eastern Europe and the Baltic CEECs are candidates to join an enlarged European Union EU in the years to come The ten are Bulgaria the Czech Republic Estonia Hungary Latvia Lithuania Poland Romania the Slovak Republic and Slovenia This enlargement will bring many opportunities to the both the EU and the candidate countries For the EU it will bring enhanced weight and influence For the candidate countries it should mean an improvement of their long term growth prospects by providing access to an open single market The accession process is providing the impetus for the acceleration of much needed economic political institutional and social reforms in some of the CEECs as they strive to meet EU membership requirements The key for the CEECs is to achieve sustained high long term growth in order to meet their ultimate objective of accession The EU has already concluded agreements with the CEECs which went beyond the narrowly conceived ideas of market access to include the alignment of the CEEC economic system with that of the EU s This report sets out the future agenda for the successful integration of the CEECs into an enlarged EU The first priority is for each country to complete its own process of transition to a free market democratic state In short this will mean that many will have to address their fiscal challenges and ensure fiscal sustainability the challenge of global financial integration opening of their capital accounts the strengthening of their administrative capacity the reduction of unemployment and the promotion of social inclusion

The Left Transformed in Post-communist Societies Jane Leftwich Curry, Joan Barth Urban, 2003 One of the most unexpected outcomes of the Soviet bloc s transition out of communism is the divergent but important paths followed by once ruling communist parties In The Left Transformed this ideological split into free market social democrats Poland Hungary and Lithuania anti Western neo Leninists Russia and Ukraine and doctrinal fence sitters the ex communists of former East Germany is explored through in depth interviews party presses and primary documents and national election data The careful examination of each party s transition as well as the most current information on organization ideology and electoral fortunes through late 2002 makes this book an invaluable resource for anyone interested in contemporary history political parties or comparative government in the former Soviet Empire

Capitalism and Democracy in Central and Eastern Europe Grzegorz Ekiert, Stephen E. Hanson, 2003-09-15 This volume presents a shared effort to apply a general historical institutionalist approach to the problem of assessing institutional change in the wake of communism s collapse in Europe It brings together a number of leading senior and junior scholars with outstanding reputations as specialists in postcommunism and comparative politics to address central theoretical and empirical issues involved in the study of postcommunism The authors address such questions as how historical legacies of the communist regime be defined how their impact can be measured in methodologically rigorous ways and how the effects of temporal and spatial context can be taken into account in empirical research on the region Taken as a whole the volume makes an important contribution to the growing literature by utilizing the comparative historical method to study key problems of world politics

Capital Flows in a Transitional Economy and the Sterilization Dilemma Mr. Pierre L. Siklos, 1996-08-01 This paper compares Hungary s experience with sterilization with that of other capital inflow episodes The study focuses on the short run impact of sterilization on monetary policy The empirical data indicate that sterilized interventions by the National Bank of Hungary NBH were not significant until mid 1994 sometime after the return to power of the former Communist leaders Thus in the second half of 1994 the NBH began to demonstrate more firmly its independence by tightening monetary policy By the beginning of 1995 the direction of fiscal policy had begun to show consonance with the overall aims of monetary policy

The Agricultural Transition in Central and Eastern Europe and the Former U.S.S.R. Avishay Braverman, Karen McConnell Brooks, Csaba Csáki, 1993 Central and Eastern European countries and the states of the former USSR have embarked on an exhilarating but difficult political and economic transition Changes in agriculture in Central and Eastern Europe and the former USSR will profoundly affect the individual countries and the region and alter the world agricultural economy in the twenty first century Despite many differences these countries face a core of common issues as they design and implement agrarian reform Most of the papers prepared for the 1990 World Bank National Bank of Hungary conference on the agricultural transition in Central and Eastern Europe and the USSR are presented herein They provide a rich set of references for understanding the problems of agricultural transition in Central and Eastern Europe and the former Soviet Union and for evaluating alternative paths open to the governments in the region The unifying theme of this book is the common dilemmas and options of agricultural transformation in countries that differ in size resource endowment level of development extent of market imperfections and political conditions

The Political Economy of Fiscal Reform in Central-Eastern Europe Frank Bönker, 2006 This insightful book examines the necessary conditions for the successful initiation and consolidation of unpopular economic reforms Drawing on the burgeoning literature in the area of policy reform it features a comparative analysis of fiscal reform in Hungary Poland and the Czech Republic at different stages of the post communist transformation This analysis demonstrates that a significant number of the national differences in fiscal reform can be attributed to differences in political constraints It also reveals that these very constraints change in the course of transformation and have become increasingly similar to the standard restrictions which exist in the traditional EU and OECD countries This in depth analysis of the changing role of political determinants in post communist fiscal reform will strongly appeal to economists and political scientists interested in the political economy of policy reform post communist economic transformation and the role of international organizations IMF EU in shaping domestic policy making Policy analysts interested in fiscal reform in Hungary Poland and the Czech Republic will also find much to interest them in this book
