The study of war in all periods of prehistory and recorded history has always commanded the attention of historians dramatists poets and artists The study of peace has however not yet gained a comparable readership and the subject is attracting an increasing amount of scholarly research This volume presents the first work of academic research to tackle this imbalance head on It looks at war and peace through the ages from the Classical world through to the 18th century It considers the nature and advocacy of war and peace both from an historical perspective but also a philosophical one particularly looking at how universal peace which began as a personal philosophy became over the centuries a political philosophy that underpins much of modern society s attitudes towards warfare and militarism Roger Manning begins his journey through history by looking at the Greek martial ethos and philosophical concepts of peace and war in the ancient world moving through the Roman empire s military advances he explores the concepts of war and peace in the medieval world and the Renaissance with the writing of Machiavelli and Erasmus finally his account of the search for a science of peace in the 17th and 18th centuries brings the book to its conclusion 1648 Angelica Francke, Ulrich Winzer, 1998
