The Defense Industrial Base Nayantara Hensel,2016-03-03 The US and international defense industrial sectors have faced many challenges over the last twenty years including cycles of growth and shrinkage in defense budgets shifts in strategic defense priorities and macroeconomic volatility In the current environment the defense sector faces a combination of these challenges and must struggle with the need to maintain critical aspects of the defense industrial base as defense priorities change and as defense budgets reduce or plateau Moreover the defense sector in the US is interconnected both with defense sectors in other countries and with other industry sectors in the US and global economies As a result strategic decisions made in one defense sector impact the defense sectors of other countries as well as other areas of the economy Given her academic corporate and Department of Defense experience as a leading economist and policy maker Dr Nayantara Hensel is perfectly positioned to examine the interrelationship between these forces both historically and in the current environment and to assess the implications for the future global defense industrial base

Institutions, Restructuring, and Macroeconomic Performance Ricardo J. Caballero,Mohamad L. Hammour,2000 A growing body of new research has emphasized the macroeconomic consequences of transactional impediments in factor markets and their role in the recurrent restructuring requirements of modern economies We first review the function institutional arrangements play in facilitating transactions and explore the macroeconomic consequences of poor institutions As an application we discuss the lessons that can be learnt from observed changes in the nature of unemployment in Europe We then analyze the effect the institutional environment can have on macroeconomic restructuring In light of this framework we revisit the question of the relationship between recessions and restructuring activity and review the recent evidence of reduced restructuring following recessions We also discuss corroborating evidence from merger waves in the restructuring of corporate assets
