Boy Caesar:

Boy Caesar Jeremy Reed,2014-07-01 The past comes to haunt contemporary London in this evocation of the life of the little known Roman boy emperor Heliogabalus The Roman gay world is mirrored in Jim s relations with his duplicitous partner Danny and the contemporary London scene they inhabit Events take a weird twist when Jim discovers that his partner is living a double life as a member of a Soho cult involving bizarre sex rites on Hampstead Heath Jim repulsed by the cult s activities finds his relationship with Danny at an end and that he has become a target for the leader s reprisals He is forced to take refuge with a female friend Masako with whom he visits Rome to investigate sites associated with Heliogabalus She leads him to a meeting with a wealthy young man called Antonio who claims to be the emperor reincarnated When Jim and Masako return to London Antonio pays them a visit which leads to a conclusion every bit as dramatic as Heliogabalus own murder An electrifying poetic recreation of a bizarre period of ancient history this narrative also dissolves boundaries of gender in the complex relationship of Jim and Masako Naval General Service Medal Roll 1793-1840 Kenneth Douglas-Morris,2012-04-19 Captain Douglas Morris s classic Medal Roll Recipients are listed by bar entitlement then alphabetically This book is a fine tribute to a great researcher whose tenacity and precision are unequalled in the field of naval medal research Vested Interests Marjorie Garber,2012-10-12 Beginning with the bold claim There can be no culture without the transvestite Marjorie Garber explores the nature and significance of cross dressing and of the West s recurring fascination with it Rich in anecdote and insight Vested Interests offers a provocative and entertaining view of our ongoing obsession with dressing up and with the power of clothes Coming Through Kincaid Mills,Genevieve C. Peterkin,Aaron McCollough,2023-03-20 Oral histories of formerly enslaved people and their families along the South Carolina coast Coming Through marks the first complete publication of these interviews with former slaves and their descendants living in the Waccamaw Neck region of South Carolina as collected by Genevieve W Chandler as part of the WPA Federal Writers Project Between 1936 and 1938 Chandler interviewed more than one hundred individuals in and around All Saints Parish a portion of Horry and Georgetown counties located between the Waccamaw River and the Atlantic Ocean Her subjects spoke freely with her on topics ranging from slave punishment to folk medicine from conditions in the Jim Crow South to the exploits of Brer Rabbit A teacher artist writer and later museum curator Chandler had no formal training as an oral historian or folklorist yet the sophistication of her work as documented here anticipates developments in these fields of study a generation later Her detailed descriptions add social context to folktales and her careful and systematic renderings of the Gullah language have since been praised as foundational work by Creole linguists Chandler s Gullah speaking African American informants range in age from the 9 year old George Kato Singleton to 104 year old Welcome Bees A biography of each subject accompanies the interviews Collectively these interviews form an intimate portrait of a fascinating subculture of the Carolina coast and the Sea Islands as shared with a remarkable woman who has special access to converse with the people of this traditionally insular world Moreover they provide an unparalleled firsthand account of the African American experience in South Carolina in the words of those who lived it The volume is edited by Chandler s daughter Genevieve C Peterkin and two scholars Kincaid Mills and Aaron McCollough The three have carefully established the texts of the interviews in a manner that highlights Chandler s skills as a field linguist and have supplemented the texts with revealing documentation The collection is enhanced with a foreword by Charles W Joyner Burroughs Distinguished Professor of History at Coastal Carolina University appendixes respecting the WPA project and the nuances of Gullah language and culture and photographs of the subjects taken by renowned photographer Bayard Wootten many published here for the first time
