Brain Dead:

Practical Decision Making in Health Care Ethics Raymond J. Devettere, 2009-12-04 For nearly fifteen years Practical Decision Making in Health Care Ethics has offered scholars and students a highly accessible and teachable alternative to the dominant principle based theories in the field Devettere's approach is not based on an ethics of abstract obligations and duties but following Aristotle on how to live a fulfilled and happy life in short an ethics of personal well being grounded in prudence the virtue of ethical decision making This third edition is revised and updated and includes discussions of several landmark cases including the tragic stories of Terri Schiavo and Jesse Gelsinger the first death caused by genetic research Devettere addresses new topics such as partial birth abortion law embryonic stem cell research infant euthanasia in The Netherlands recent Vatican statements on feeding tubes organ donation after cardiac death new developments in artificial hearts clinical trials developed by pharmaceutical companies to market new drugs ghostwritten scientific articles published in major medical journals and controversial HIV AIDS research in Africa This edition also includes a new chapter on the latest social and political issues in American health care Devettere's engaging text relies on commonsense moral concepts and avoids academic jargon It includes a glossary of legal medical and ethical terms an index of cases and thoroughly updated bibliographic essays at the end of each chapter that offer resources for further reading It is a true classic brilliantly conceived and executed and is now even more valuable to undergraduates and graduate students medical students health care professionals hospital ethics committees and institutional review boards and general readers interested in philosophy medicine and the rapidly changing field of health care ethics

Handbook of Death and Dying Clifton D. Bryant, 2003-10 Dying is a social as well as physiological phenomenon Each society characterizes and consequently treats death and dying in its own individual ways ways that differ markedly These particular patterns of death and dying engender modal cultural responses and such institutionalized behavior has familiar economical educational religious and political implications The Handbook of Death and Dying takes stock of the vast literature in the field of thanatology arranging and synthesizing what has been an unwieldy body of knowledge into a concise yet comprehensive reference work This two volume handbook will provide direction and momentum to the study of death related behavior for many years to come Key Features More than 100 contributors representing authoritative expertise in a diverse array of disciplines Anthropology Family Studies History Law Medicine Mortuary Science Philosophy Psychology Social work Sociology Theology A distinguished editorial board of leading scholars and researchers in the field More than 100 definitive essays covering almost every dimension of death related behavior Comprehensive and inclusive exploring concepts and social patterns within the larger topical concern Journal article length essays that address topics with appropriate detail Multidisciplinary and cross cultural coverage

Beyond Brain Death M. Potts, P.A. Byrne, Richard G. Nilges, R.G. Nilges, 2001-11-30 Beyond Brain Death offers a provocative challenge to one of the most widely accepted conclusions of contemporary bioethics the position that brain death marks the death of the human person Eleven chapters by physicians philosophers and theologians present the case against brain based criteria for human death Each author believes that this position calls into question the moral acceptability of the transplantation of unpaired vital organs from brain dead patients who have continuing function of the circulatory system One strength of the book is its international approach to the question contributors are from the United States the United Kingdom Liechtenstein and Japan This book will appeal to a wide audience including physicians and other health care professionals philosophers theologians medical sociologists and social workers
