Death Sentences Garrett Stewart, 1984 This is a book about terminals and boundaries mortality and closure the infinitesimals of style and the finite limits of representational language about least and last things together. It is a book to start with about three vast and familiar facts of life and art death content and form. Only by their particular triangulation in the genre of prose fiction do they mark out the hypothesis of the present study that death in fiction is the fullest instance of form indexing content is indeed the moment when content comprising the imponderable of negation and vacancy can be found dissolving to pure form. Death in narrative yields by yielding to sheer style.

Death's Bounty William Stuart Brady, 1979 American & European Literary Imagination, Western culture is composed of a subtle and complex mixture of influences religious philosophical linguistic political social and sociological. American culture is a particular strain but unless European antecedents and contemporary leanings are duly noted any resulting history is predestined to provincialism and distortion. In his account of American literature during the period 1919 to 1932 McCormick deals with the extraordinary work of artists who wrested imaginative order from a world in which the abyss was never out of sight. McCormick's volume is intended as a critical rather than encyclopedic history of literature on both sides of the Atlantic between the end of World War I and the political and social crises that arose in the 1930s. Although he emphasizes American writers the emergence of a vital and distinctly modern American literature is located in the cultural encounter with Europe and the rejection of national bias by the major figures of the period. McCormick deals with Gertrude Stein and the mythology of the lost generation the tensions and ambivalences of traditionalism and modernity in the work of Sherwood Anderson and F. Scott Fitzgerald the effect and qualities of Hemingway's style as compared to that of Henry de Montherlant and the provincial iconoclasm of Sinclair Lewis juxtaposed with the more telling satire of Italo Svevo. The formal innovations in the work of John Dos Passos E. E. Cummings and William Faulkner the poetic revolution against cultural parochialism and genteel romanticism is given extensive consideration with regard to the work of T S Eliot Ezra Pound Wallace Stevens William Carlos Williams and Marianne Moore are also discussed The concluding chapters discuss literary and social criticism and assess the influence of psychoanalysis philosophical pragmatism and radical historiography on the intellectual climate of the period Teachers and students in English and American Literature American History and Comparative Literature and the general reader interested in the writing of the period may gain new insights from these valuations devaluations and re evaluations John McCormick is professor emeritus of comparative literature at Rutgers University and Honorary Fellow of English and Literature at the University of York He is author of many books including Catastrophe and Imagination Fiction as Knowledge and George Santayana A Biography Boston Births, Baptisms, Marriages and Deaths, 1630-1699 Boston (Mass.).
