The Decline of Power 1915-1964

The Paladin History of England

The Decline of Power deals with the period from the disintegration of the Liberal Party as a major force in British politics in 1915 to the election of a Labour government under Harold Wilson in 1964. It covers British politics during a turbulent half century that saw many profound social and political changes.

Perhaps the most important was the decline of England as a major imperial power. It was connected with the two world wars – a major theme in this book. Robert Blake skilfully charts the steps by which the sea-based British Empire declined from its former grandeur and the modern world became dominated by great land-based powers, the USA and the USSR.

This brilliant portrait of a complex and fraught period, enlivened and illuminated by the author's customary wit, scholarship and wisdom, is a major contribution to understanding the history and events of our century.

'One of the great strengths of the book is Lord Blake's capacity to sum up, to come to judgments which seem, at least to this reviewer, both illuminating and correct . . . This book can be read with great profit by anyone interested, even remotely, in 20th century British history'

The River Nile in the Age of the British Terje Tvedt, 2004-03-26 The Nile today plays a crucial role in the economics politics and cultural life of ten countries and their more than 300 million inhabitants No other international river basin has a longer more complex and eventful history than the Nile In telling the detailed story of the hydropolitics of the Nile valley in a period during which the conceptualisation use and planning of the waters were revolutionised and many of the most famous politicians of the twentieth century Churchill Mussolini Eisenhower Eden Nasser and Haile Selassie played active parts in the Nile game this work will stand as a case study of a much more general and acute question the political ecology of trans national river basins

Britain's Retreat from East of Suez Saki Dockrill, 2002-07-09 This book based on recently declassified documents in Britain and the USA is the first detailed account of Britain's East of Suez decision which was taken by the Harold Wilson Government in 1967-68 Contrary to received opinion the author argues that the decision was not taken hastily as a result of the November 1967 devaluation Nor is there any hard evidence to support the notion that there existed a Pound Defence deal with the USA Despite Washington's pressure to maintain Britain's East of Suez role the decision was taken by the Labour Government on the basis of a long term effort to re-examine Britain's world role since 1959 and it marked the end of an era for postwar Britain

The Wired Northwest Paul W. Hirt, 2012-10-18 The Pacific Northwest holds an abundance of resources for energy production from hydroelectric power to coal nuclear power wind turbines and even solar panels But hydropower is king Dams on the Columbia Snake Fraser Kootenay and dozens of other rivers provided the foundation for an expanding regionally integrated power system in the U S Northwest and British Columbia A broad historical synthesis chronicling the region's first century of electrification Paul Hirt's new study reveals how the region's citizens struggled to build a power system that was technologically efficient financially profitable and socially and environmentally responsible Hirt shows that every energy source comes with its share of costs and benefits Because Northwest energy development meant river development the electric power industry collided with the salmon fishing industry and the treaty rights of Northwest indigenous peoples from the 1890s to the present Because U S federal agencies like the Army Corps of Engineers and the U S Bureau of Reclamation built many of the large dams in the region a significant portion of the power supply is publicly owned initiating contentious debates over how that power should best serve the citizens of the region Hirt dissects these ongoing battles evaluating the successes and failures of regional efforts to craft an efficient yet socially just power system Focusing on the dynamics of problem solving governance and the tense relationship between profit seeking and the public interest Hirt s narrative takes in a wide range of players not only on the consumer side where electricity transformed mills mines households commercial districts urban transit factories and farms but also power companies operating at the local and regional level and investment companies that financed and in some cases parasitized the operators His study also straddles the international border It is the first book to compare energy development in the U S Northwest and British Columbia Both engaging and balanced in its treatment of all the actors on this expansive stage The Wired Northwest helps us better understand the challenges of the twenty first century as we try to learn from past mistakes and re design an energy grid for a more sustainable future

The Opposition Years Frank A. Mayer,1992 The Opposition Years offers a unique analysis of Winston Churchill s leadership of the Conservative Party from the Tory s crushing defeat in the 1945 General Election to its triumphant return to government office in 1951 This study focuses on the crucial significance of Churchill s leadership style that enabled the Tories to restructure the party s organization and rethink conservative approaches to the welfare state

The Power Makers Maury Klein,2010-09-01 The dramatic story of the power revolution that turned America from an agrarian society into a technological superpower and the dynamic fiercely competitive inventors and entrepreneurs who made it happen a riveting historical saga to rival McCullough s The Great Bridge or Larson s Thunderstruck
