Knight of Faith, Volume 2 Norman Percy Grubb, 2006-04-28 The title Knight of Faith is taken from Fear and Trembling by Soren Kierkegaard This knight is an ordinary man who believes Gods word to him against all appearances like Abraham the original knight of faith did with Isaac He enters this narrow way of faith where few venture Kierkegaard says he is very different from the knight of infinite resignation who believes the answer will come sometime if not in this life then in the next About this knight of faith Kierkegaard writes But if I knew where there was such a knight of faith I would make a pilgrimage to him on foot for this prodigy interests me absolutely I would not let go of him for an instant every moment I would watch to see how he managed to make the movements I would regard myself as secured for life and would divide my time between looking at him and practicing the exercises myself and thus would spend all my time admiring him This knight of faith is found in Norman Percy Grubb He looked the ordinary man such as any ordinary man but he had discovered the keys of the kingdom faith and shared it with all As you read his letters you too will find a remarkable yet very human person who spent a lifetime seeking Gods face believing by virtue of the absurd and relentlessly sharing in every way possible that which God had given him The world will not always recognise the true knight but he is there butcher baker or candlestick maker or a housewife with a vision of the impossible She Flew the Coop Michael Lee West, 1994 A novel concerning life death sex and recipes in Limoges Louisiana

D., 2022-01-19 This book is about the world's greatest gifts Those gifts never stop giving They give meaning to our words muscle to our message and magic to our memories What are these gifts I thought you'd never ask and my answer is stories We learn through stories we laugh through stories and we live through stories Stories give our words wings and our speeches strength They help us find faith and form friends Whether an audience is young or old tough or tender friendly or frigid the eyes and ears of that audience are earned best by stories Stories are the part of life that sticks to our ribs They are the spaghetti and meatballs of our Sunday night supper Stories can help us relive life revive life review life and renew life They can even help us expand life and explain life What more does a story do This book will tell you This book will show you A Gal Named Jo DeeDee Hall, 2010-01-25 My Legacy A couple of weeks before my mother's death she called me aside and said I want you to be the executor of my estate Your older brother Eric is too busy I want you to do it I felt very unworthy and unqualified for the task but I agreed to do whatever she wanted My other brother Mike who had been living with her received the hardest task sorting through all kinds of keepsakes and papers You see my mother just as her grandmother before her could never bear to throw anything away especially something that might be used in a scrapbook someday I believe my mother saved every scrap of correspondence and memorabilia of her entire life Under my mother's bed my brother found a huge stack of letters letters written between her and my father during World War Two Our parents had never spoken of these letters and what a surprise they were And what a volume of pages over 2 190 When I began to read some of the letters I was amazed at their depth their lovely descriptions and their well written thoughts about life art and each other These two people were transformed from being just my parents to captivating characters who could have stepped out of a Norman Rockwell painting They were young and idealistic with a sometimes naive outlook on life My father was a dreamer a romantic and a devoted lover And they both had good character a trait sadly missing these days These letters became a great treasure find for I felt like a part of my parents had been given back to me and I discovered a part of them I had never known I was given a new respect for who they really were Every time I would tell someone about the letters they would exclaim Wow that sounds just like a novel You should write a book One day I found in one of my dad's letters a bit of confirmation He wrote I got out all of your letters yesterday and put them in order They make quite a sizable stack I could do a book on a gal named Jo from them It would make a good yarn too I wonder why you haven't thought of your own life of the last few years as the basis of a story This legacy of letters a rare thing in this modern day of e mail and text messaging has played much upon my mind I being the executor of my mother s estate feel that a part of them should be shared by friends and family I am not the writer my parents were the writers I am just an unskilled seamstress trying to thread a portion of their words together to make a readable story I tell the story through the voice of my mother A brief summary In 1944 my dad married for just a year was stationed in Lakeland Florida before being deployed overseas My mother had gone there to be with him and it was there that they met a very talented couple of artists the Chancys Mrs Chancy was also a well known writer of children s books at that time Because my mother and father were artists the Chancys took a liking to them and made them an incredible offer They invited my mother to come after my dad was deployed to their farmhouse in Connecticut and stay with them for the summer They hoped to give my mother some valuable lessons in art and planned to help her enroll in one of the prestigious art schools of New York City that fall Mother had been looking forward to being at home with her family in Tennessee but she couldn t pass up such a marvelous opportunity so one month later on June 6th she found herself on a train heading north to live with a family she hardly knew On the farm she faced many new challenges while my dad was dealing with his own set of problems across the seas I invite you to step into that world of 1944 and visit those summer days of courage and fear of mistakes and misunderstandings of growth and giggles and of longings and love all seen through the eyes of my mother that Gal named Jo One final note Because my mother saved everything we found sket
