Current Contents Institute for Scientific Information (Philadelphia), 2002 From Fast to Feast Cas Wepener, 2009 Today some years after the first democratic elections in South Africa as well as the final report of the Truth and Reconciliation Commission TRC it is clear that reconciliation is still needed on all terrains of South African society More and more people are becoming aware of unchanneled emotions such as guilt fury revenge and grief which are still alive in South Africa and which come to fore in different ways It seems as if reconciliation is a process that will in fact take years if not generations The task of the TRC has been completed but the task of reconciliation on all levels in South African society and the debate surrounding it are far from complete Very little research has been conducted to understand both the process and the kinds of reconciliation rituals that are needed And this is exactly the aim of the research described in this book The research described here aims at making a contribution towards the process of reconciliation in South Africa by specifically looking at one small but important element in that process namely ritual To this end several ritual probes were conducted including an ethnographic probe describing research by means of participatory observation in local South African communities as well as a cultural anthropological biblical historical and descriptive probe From these probes ritual qualities were distilled which can be used for the liturgical inculturation of rituals of reconciliation in South Africa Animation Journal , 2005 Context Martin E. Marty, 2003 The Use of Symbols in Worship Christopher Irvine, 2007 In our post modern technological and visual age there seems to be a new fascination with symbols And in such an age as this it is not enough just to understand and use the written liturgy whether old or new like Common Worship In worship and in our pastoral rites the preoccupation with texts has to be balanced with the vital liturgical language of symbols Never before has there been such scope for the use of symbols as can be found in the family of Common Worship services Not simply visual aids liturgical symbols are suggestive and evocative they belong to a whole matrix of imagery in Scripture and in the prayer texts that accompany the ritual acts of worship Each chapter of Symbols and Worship provides theological and historical background to the symbols discussed water oil light and incense as well as practical guidance on the place and use of these symbols in the whole range of Common Worship services

Embracing the Song of Appearance: An Psychological Symphony within Deeply Into The Bone Re Inventing Rites Of Passage

In some sort of used by monitors and the ceaseless chatter of immediate connection, the melodic elegance and emotional symphony developed by the published word frequently disappear in to the backdrop, eclipsed by the persistent noise and disruptions that permeate our lives.
