Public Service Broadcasting Online B. Brevini, 2013-09-27 This book investigates the extent to which a Public Service Broadcasting PSB ethos has been extended to the online world in Europe It examines the most significant policy initiatives carried out by PSBs in Europe on online platforms and analyzes how the public service philosophy is being reinvented by policy makers

The Decline and Fall of Public Broadcasting David Barsamian, 2001 Concentration of the media has reached new heights making it harder for alternative and critical voices to gain a hearing The recent 86 billion merger of Time Warner and AOL is just one of many signs of the narrowing of information sources Market pressures have also encroached on the original mission of public broadcasting which was to provide a voice for groups that may otherwise be unheard Yet around the country creative journalists and activists are creating more democratic informative and engaging media Whether they are working to defend and expand democratic access to existing media or building their own media alternatives through the radio television or the World Wide Web they are pioneering new ways of sharing information In the Decline and Fall of Public Broadcasting David

Barsamian gives an insider's account of these new media activists and the challenges they confront drawing on his years of experience in public radio. Since 1986 Barsamian has been the producer of the highly acclaimed Alternative Radio, a weekly one-hour public affairs program broadcast in North America, Europe, South Africa, and Australia, as well as short wave radio and the Internet. David Barsamian is the producer of the award-winning syndicated radio program Alternative Radio. His interview books with luminaries such as Noam Chomsky, Howard Zinn, and Edward W. Said have sold in the hundreds of thousands. His most recent interview book is Propaganda and the Public Mind: Conversations with Noam Chomsky (South End Press, 2001). He is also the author of Eqbal Ahmad: Confronting Empire (South End Press, 2000). Public Service Broadcasting and Media Systems in Troubled European Democracies Eva Połońska, Charlie Beckett, 2019-01-14. This book provides the most recent overview of media systems in Europe. It explores new political, economic, and technological environments and the challenges they pose to democracies and informed citizens. It also examines the new illiberal environment that has quickly embraced certain European states and its impact on media systems, considering the sources and possible consequences of these challenges for media industries and media professionals. Part I examines the evolving role of public service media in a comparative study of Western, Southern, and Central Europe, whilst Part II ventures into Europe's periphery where media continues to be utilised by the state in its quest for power. The book also provides an insight into the role of the European Union in preserving the independence and neutrality of public service media. It will be useful to students and researchers of political communication and international and comparative media, as well as democracy and populism.

From Public Service Broadcasting to Public Service Media Gregory Ferrell Lowe, Jo Bardoel, 2007. The core challenge facing public service broadcasting today is the transition to public service media. This understanding characterised discourse among participants in the RIPE 2006 conference in the Netherlands, the theme of which was Public Service Broadcasting in the Multimedia Environment: Programmes and Platforms. The contributors in this volume focus attention on issues of strategic concern and tactical importance in addressing the core challenge. A Defining Etc: Cultural Dilemmas in Public Service Broadcasting Gregory Ferrell Lowe, Per Jauert, 2005.

A Future for Public Service Television Des Freedman, Vana Goblot, 2018-05-04. A guide to the nature, purpose, and place of public service television within a multi-platform, multichannel ecology. Television is on the verge of both decline and rebirth. Vast technological change has brought about financial uncertainty, as well as new creative possibilities for producers, distributors, and viewers. This volume from Goldsmiths Press examines not only the unexpected resilience of TV as cultural pastime and aesthetic practice, but also the prospects for public service television in a digital multichannel ecology. The proliferation of platforms from Amazon and Netflix to YouTube and the vlogosphere means intense competition for audiences traditionally dominated by legacy broadcasters. Public service broadcasters, whether the BBC, the German ARD or the Canadian Broadcasting Corporation are particularly vulnerable to this volatility Born in the more stable political and cultural conditions of the twentieth century they face a range of pressures on their revenue their remits and indeed their very futures This book reflects on the issues raised in Lord Puttnam's 2016 Public Service TV Inquiry Report with contributions from leading broadcasters academics and regulators With resonance for students professionals and consumers with a stake in British media it serves both as historical record and as a look at the future of television in an on demand age Contributors include Tess Alps Patrick Barwise James Bennett Georgie Born Natasha Cox Gunn Enli Des Freedman Vana Goblot David Hendy Jennifer Holt Amanda D Lotz Sarita Malik Matthew Powers Lord Puttnam Trine Syvertsen Jon Thoday Mark Thompson
