A Litany Of Angels:

Angels in Early Medieval England Richard Sowerby,2016-07-28 In the modern world angels can often seem to be no more than a symbol but in the Middle Ages men and women thought differently Some offered prayers intended to secure the angelic assistance for the living and the dead others erected stone monuments carved with images of winged figures and still others made angels the subject of poetic endeavour and theological scholarship This wealth of material has never been fully explored and was once dismissed as the detritus of a superstitious age Angels in Early Medieval England offers a different perspective by using angels as a prism through which to study the changing religious culture of an unfamiliar age Focusing on one corner of medieval Europe which produced an abundance of material relating to angels Richard Sowerby investigates the way that ancient beliefs about angels were preserved and adapted in England during the Anglo Saxon period Between the sixth century and the eleventh the convictions of Anglo Saxon men and women about the world of the spirits underwent a gradual transformation This book is the first to explore that transformation and to show the ways in which the Anglo Saxons tried to reconcile their religious inheritance with their own perspectives about the world human nature and God

By Lawful Authority Jacob Merlo Horstius,1877 Contesting Orthodoxy in Medieval and Early Modern Europe Louise Nyholm Kallestrup,Raisa Maria Toivo,2017-02-04 This book breaks with three common scholarly barriers of periodization discipline and geography in its exploration of the related themes of heresy magic and witchcraft It sets aside constructed chronological boundaries and in doing so aims to achieve a clearer picture of what went before as well as what came after Thus the volume demonstrates continuity as well as change in the concepts and understandings of magic heresy and witchcraft In addition the geographical pattern of similarities and diversities suggests a comparative approach transcending confessional as well as national borders Throughout the medieval and early modern period the orthodoxy of the Christian Church was continuously contested The challenge of heterodoxy especially as expressed in various kinds of heresy magic and witchcraft was constantly present during the period 1200 1650 Neither contesters nor followers of orthodoxy were homogeneous groups or fractions They themselves and their ideas changed from one century to the next from region to region even from city to city but within a common framework of interpretation This collection of essays focuses on this complex
