The Evolution of Literature in the Americas Earl E. Fitz, 2025-03-31 This book offers a systematic and comparative history of the evolution of literature in the Americas from the beginning to the present day. It begins with an introduction that assesses the development of the field and then proceeds to a chapter on the literature of Pre-Columbian and indigenous America. It then moves forward chronologically from the arrival of the Europeans beginning in 1492 to the year 2026. Including indigenous literature, the other American literatures represented in the book are those of Canada, both Francophone and Anglophone, the United States, the Caribbean, Francophone and Anglophone Spanish America, and Brazil. Not every book ever written in the Americas is included; of course, only those that in the author's estimation offer some valid point of comparison with other American literary cultures. These points of comparison include issues of theme, genre, literary periods, literature and other disciplines such as history, art, music, or politics, cases of influence and reception, and translation. The book's emphasis is on viewing American literature from a hemispheric and comparative lens.

Machado de Assis and Female Characterization, Earl E. Fitz, 2014-11-19 This book examines the nature and function of the main female characters in the nine novels of Machado de Assis. The basic argument is that Machado had a particular interest in female characterization and that his fictional women became increasingly sophisticated and complex as he matured and developed as a writer and social commentator. This book argues that Machado developed especially after 1880 and what is usually considered the beginning of his mature period, a kind of anti-realistic new narrative one that presents itself as self-referential fictional artifice but one that also cultivates a keen social consciousness. The book also contends that Machado increasingly uses his female characterizations to convey this social consciousness and to show that the new Brazil that is emerging both before and after the establishment of the Brazilian Republic 1889 requires not only the emancipation of the black slaves but the emancipation of its women as well.
