A Humanistic Philosophy Of Music:

A Humanistic Philosophy of Music Edward A. Lippman, 2006 Our field of inquiry Material Form Meaning Style Permanence Composites Context Conception Music and Humanism R. A. Sharpe, 2000 Is music sad because it causes the listener to feel sad Is it to be valued because of the pleasure it gives us R A Sharpe argues that the views these questions enshrine underestimate the cognitive element in our response to music Our beliefs about music and our knowledge of the culture in which it originated underlie the judgements we make At their most general these cognitive elements are ideological in nature and they play both a positive and a negative role in our response to music they both help and hinder Music has long been thought of as a language This metaphor underpins the way we hear music and the way we think about it We conceive of music both as expressive and as something to be understood Almost certainly the roots of this conception lie in the fertilization of music by rhetoric during the Renaissance Sharpe suggests that music may have entered a new period in which the language analogy and the humanist conception of music which it expresses are becoming less and less appropriate

Humanism and the Aesthetic Experience in Music Walter L. Wehner, 1977 Philosophy of Music R.A. Sharpe, 2015-01-30 This lively and lucid introduction to the philosophy of music concentrates on the issues that illuminate musical listening and practice It examines the conceptual debates relevant to the understanding and performing of music and grounds the philosophy to practical matters throughout Ideal for a beginning readership with little philosophical background the author provides an overview of the central debates enlivened by a real sense of enthusiasm for the subject and why it matters The book begins by filling in the historical background and offers readers a succinct summary of philosophical thinking on music from the Ancient Greeks to Eduard Hanslick and Edmund Gurney Chapter 2 explores two central questions what is it that makes music or to be precise some pieces of music works of art And what is the work of music per se Is it just what we hear the performance or is it something over and above that something we invent or discover Chapter 3 discusses a problem peculiar to music and one at the heart of philosophical discussion of it can music have a meaning And if so what can it be Chapter 4 considers whether music can have value Are there features about music that make it good features which can be specified in criteria Is a work good if and only if it meets with the approval of an ideally qualified listener How do we explain differences of opinion Indeed why do we need to make judgements of the relative value of pieces of music at all This engaging and stimulating book will be of interest to students of aesthetics musical practitioners and the general reader looking for a non technical treatment of the subject The Psychology of Music Elizabeth Hellmuth Margulis, 2019 The Psychology of Music A Very Short Introduction seeks to answer fundamental questions of enduring interest such as What is musicality and How does music move us In doing so it reveals what happens when science attempts to confront some of the deepest questions about music Philosophy of Music Education Review, 2003 The Journal of Philosophy, 1978 Contemplating music Ruth Katz, 1989 A Chronicle of American Music, 1700-1995 Charles J.  Rise of Humanism in Classical Islam and the Christian West George Makdisi,2019-08-05 Challenging beliefs about intellectual culture Makdisi reaffirms the links between Western and Arabic thought and shows that although scholasticism and humanism have long been considered to be exclusive to the Western world they have their roots in the medieval Islamic world
 Music and the Church David B. Pass,1989 Research in Music Education Edward L. Rainbow,Hildegard C. Froehlich,1987 This book is a reflection of our collective experiences in teaching research to both beginning and advanced graduate music education students These experiences include introducing master level students to basic concepts of research developing skills of critical analysis in doctoral students and guiding doctoral candidates in dissertation work In all these situations it appears that the main problem in bringing research close to the minds of the students lies in their diverse views of what music education is
