Doors Close Doors Open Widows Grieving And Growing:

Doors Close, Doors Open Morton A. Lieberman, 1996 Doors Close Doors Open is based on Morton Lieberman's interviews with seven hundred widows and widowers over the course of seven years. In this book he shares the wisdom he has gained retelling women's stories about the pain and anger and challenges they face in the first few months of being widowed. But most important, Lieberman has made discoveries that expose many of the pernicious myths about widows and discloses the surprising sources of help for women and the fact that there is light at the end of the tunnel. The vast majority of women after a painful time found themselves flourishing living different but satisfying lives and changing and growing in ways they never could have dreamed of. This is a book that offers comfort and consolation by understanding so much of what so many women go through and by revealing the truth about widows that women of all ages have the ability to respond to tragedy to deal effectively with challenges and to realize new ways to live and be well. Doors Close, Doors Open Morton Lieberman, 1998-12 After a husband dies many women feel lost find it nearly impossible to picture a life alone. They feel isolated unable to be completely open with friends family many suffer well meant but not very useful advice. This book brings both comfort hope is based on interviews with 700 widows widowers. The author retells women's stories about the pain anger challenges they face in the first few months of being widowed. But most important he discloses the surprising sources of help for women shows that most women after a painful time find themselves flourishing living different but very satisfying lives. A splendid book.

Facilitating Posttraumatic Growth Lawrence G. Calhoun, Richard G. Tedeschi, 1999-07 In this book Calhoun and Tedeschi construct the first systematic framework for clinical efforts to enhance the processes they sum up as posttraumatic growth. Posttraumatic growth is the phenomenon of positive change through struggle with even the most horrible sets of circumstances. People who experience it tend to describe three general types of change: realistically stronger feelings of vulnerability that are nonetheless accompanied by stronger feelings of personal resilience; closer and deeper relationships with others; and a stronger sense of spirituality. Posttraumatic growth has only recently become an important focus of interest for researchers and practitioners. Drawing on a burgeoning professional literature as well as on their own extensive clinical experience the authors present strategies for helping clients effect all three types of positive change. Strategies that have been tested in a variety of groups facing a variety of crises and traumas. Their concise yet comprehensive practical guide will be welcomed by all those who counsel persons grappling with the worst life has to offer.

Helping Those Experiencing Loss Robert J. Grover Professor Emeritus, Susan G. Fowler, 2011-07-13 This book provides a guide for grieving youth and adults as well as extensive descriptive lists of recommended professional literature resources. Grief caused by loss is both a very common human experience and a highly individualized one. For example children experience a number of losses that are unique to their young age such as sibling and parent death adoption or divorce and should be given special consideration by professionals and parents helping them in these situations For gay lesbian or cohabiting heterosexual couples that suffer the loss of a partner societal standards often deny the survivors in these relationships the right to grieve Helping Those Experiencing Loss A Guide to Grieving Resources is a book like no other supplying compassionate information for navigating the emotional distress that every man and woman will experience in their lifetime as well as a comprehensive guide to the literature of bereavement and grieving It explains the grieving process interpreting the results of research on the topic in plain language and addressing specific groups children young adults parents who have lost a child adults who have lost spouses and the aging population

Continuing Bonds in Bereavement Dennis Klass, Edith Maria Steffen, 2017-11-27
The introduction of the continuing bonds model of grief near the end of the 20th century revolutionized the way researchers and practitioners understand bereavement Continuing Bonds in Bereavement is the most comprehensive state of the art collection of developments in this field since the inception of the model As a multi perspectival nuanced and forward looking anthology it combines innovations in clinical practice with theoretical and empirical advancements The text traces grief in different cultural settings asking questions about the truth in our interactions with the dead and showing how new cultural developments like social media change the ways we relate to those who have died Together the book s four sections encourage practitioners and scholars in both bereavement studies and in other fields to broaden their understanding of the concept of continuing bonds

Widow to Widow Phyllis R. Silverman, 2004 Widow to Widow shares the experiences of widows who have found comfort and continuity in mutual help and community support programs In the second edition of her pioneering text Phyllis Silverman brings the success of the original widow to widow program into the 21st century preparing a new generation of community leaders clergy counselors hospice staff social workers and the widowed themselves to organize and implement mutual help programs
