

A collage of various architectural and urban planning documents. The background is a dense, overlapping arrangement of papers. In the center, there is a prominent black rectangular area containing red text. Surrounding this are various drawings: a grid-like street plan, a site plan with building footprints, a technical drawing with lines and dimensions, and a newspaper clipping with columns of text and a small illustration. The overall aesthetic is that of a working architect's desk or a collection of research materials.
