

Dream Deferred

What happens to a dream deferred?

Does it dry up

Like a raisin in the sun?

Or fester like a sore--

And then run?

Does it stink like rotten meat?

Or crust and sugar over--

like a syrupy sweet?

Maybe it just sags

like a heavy load.

Or does it explode?

Langston Hughes

History, Memory, and the Literary Left John Lowney, 2006-10 In this nuanced revisionist history of modern American poetry John Lowney investigates the Depression era's impact on late modernist American poetry from the socioeconomic crisis of the 1930s through the emergence of the new social movements of the 1960s Informed by an ongoing scholarly reconsideration of 1930s American culture and concentrating on Left writers whose historical consciousness was profoundly shaped by the Depression World War II and the Cold War Lowney articulates the Left's challenges to national collective memory and redefines the importance of late modernism in American literary history The late modernist writers Lowney studies most closely Muriel Rukeyser Elizabeth Bishop Langston Hughes Gwendolyn Brooks Thomas McGrath and George Oppen are not all customarily associated with the 1930s nor are they commonly seen as literary peers By examining these late modernist writers comparatively Lowney foregrounds differences of gender and sexuality race and ethnicity and social class and region while emphasizing how each writer developed poetic forms that responded to the cultural politics and socioaesthetic debates of the 1930s In so doing he calls into question the boundaries that have limited the scholarly dialogue about modern poetry No other study of American poetry has considered the particular gathering of careers that Lowney considers As poets whose collective historical consciousness was profoundly shaped by the turmoil of the Depression and war years and the Cold War's repression or rewriting of history their diverse talents represent a distinct generational impact on U S and international literary history
