Excerpt from American Orations Studies in American Political History Edited With Introductions As a teacher of American history I have found no more luminous texts on our political history than the speeches of the great men who have been able in their discussions of public questions to place before us a contemporary record of the history which they themselves were helping to make To the careful student the secondary authorities can never supply the place of the great productions the messages and speeches which historic occasions have called forth The earnest historical reader will approach these orations not with the design of regarding them merely as specimens of eloquence or as studies in language but as indicating the great subjects and occasions of our political history and the spirit and motives of the great leaders Of that history The orations lead the student to a review of the great struggles in which the authors were engaged and to new interest in the science of government from the utterances and permanent productions ofviii preface TO the REVISED edition About the Publisher Forgotten Books publishes hundreds of thousands of rare and classic books Find more at www.forgottenbooks.com This book is a reproduction of an important historical work Forgotten Books uses state of the art technology to digitally reconstruct the work preserving the original format whilst repairing imperfections present in the aged copy In rare cases an imperfection in the original such as a blemish or missing page may be replicated in our edition We do however repair the vast majority of imperfections successfully any imperfections that remain are intentionally left to preserve the state of such historical works      *American Orations: VII.
