Beyond Market Driven Development:

Beyond Market-Driven Development Costas Lapavitsas, 2007-04-11 The phenomenon of globalization is studied in detail by prestigious contributors including Ben Fine and KS Jomo with particular emphasis on East Asia Lapavitsas's previous book on Development Policy in the 21st Century is one of our bigger selling monographs of recent years Provides a range of approaches and viewpoints Post Keynesian Institutional and Marxian Beyond Development Cooperation Fauzya A. Moore, International Development Research Centre (Canada), Society for International Development, 1994 Beyond Development Cooperation Toward a New Era of Global and Human Security Beyond Law, 1996 Travel Demand and Transportation Policy Beyond the Edge Richard William Lee, 1995 Institutional Requirements for Market-led Development in Latin America Mario Cimoli, United Nations. Economic Commission for Latin America and the Caribbean. Office of the Executive Secretary, 2003 The Rise of the Market Philip Arestis, Malcolm C. Sawyer, 2004 The growth of neo liberalism has been the dominant political force in the past two decades This volume concentrates on understanding the political economy of neo liberalism It focuses on a number of the most critical issues and examines the essence of neo liberalism namely the dominance of the market In particular the authors consider the political economy of market expansion the rise of neo liberalism in advanced capitalist economies the notion of social capital the nature of economic imperialism the political economy of central bank independence the relationship between Keynes and Marx With contributions by some of the leading scholars in the field this vital new book on the political economy of neo liberalism and the dominance of the market will become essential reading for all those with an interest in post Keynesian economics political economy and international economic policy Beyond Extinction Rates Royal Society (Great Britain). Discussion Meeting, 2005 Beyond Unequal Development Andrés Solimano, 1999 Takes as his starting point the policies in the 1980s and 1990s espoused by the Washington Consensus which focused on material economic progress Argues that income distribution and the reduction of social inequality are also valid targets Proposes social policies that support broadly based education and health services access to credit and land and social protection as elements of a paradigm which will bring about equitable development Market-based Management Roger J. Best, 1997 Using an applied approach that focuses on market orientation marketing strategy and market based management Best details the connections between a market driven strategy and profitable growth U.S. Bank National Association V. Clark, 2004 Regime Politics Clarence Nathan Stone, 1989 From the end of Georgia's white primary in 1946 to the present Atlanta has been a community of growing black electoral strength and stable white economic power Yet the ballot box and investment money never became opposing weapons in a battle for domination Instead Atlanta experienced the emergence and evolution of a biracial coalition Although beset by changing conditions and significant cost pressures this coalition has remained intact At critical junctures forces of cooperation overcame antagonisms of race and ideology While retaining a critical distance from rational choice theory author

Clarence Stone finds the problem of collective action to be centrally important. The urban condition in America is one of weak and diffuse authority and this situation favors any group that can act cohesively and control a substantial body of resources. Those endowed with a capacity to promote cooperation can attract allies and overcome oppositional forces. On the negative side of the political ledger Atlanta's style of civic cooperation is achieved at a cost. Despite an ambitious program of physical redevelopment the city is second only to Newark, New Jersey in the poverty rate. Social problems, conflict of interest issues and inattention to the production potential of a large lower class bespeak a regime unable to address a wide range of human needs. No simple matter of elite domination it is a matter of governing arrangements built out of selective incentives and inside deal making such arrangements can serve only limited purposes. The capacity of urban regimes to bring about elaborate forms of physical redevelopment should not blind us to their incapacity to address deeply rooted social problems. Stone takes the historical approach seriously. The flow of events enables us to see how some groups deploy their resource advantages to fashion governing arrangements to their liking. But no one enjoys a completely free hand some arrangements are more workable than others. Stone's theory minded analysis of key events enables us to ask why and what else might be done. Regime Politics offers readers a political history of postwar Atlanta and an elegant innovative and incisive conceptual framework destined to influence the way urban politics is studied.

Beyond Tradeoffs Nancy Birdsall, 1998. The essays in this book propose new ways of reducing inequality not by growth inhibiting transfers and regulations but by enhancing efficiency eliminating consumption subsidies for the wealthy increasing the productivity of the poor and shifting to a more labor and skill demanding growth path. They draw on discussions at a conference sponsored by the IDB and the MacArthur Foundation titled Inequality Reducing Growth in Latin America held in Washington D C in January 1997. Foreword

Beyond Neoliberalism in Latin America? John Burdick, Philip Oxhorn, Kenneth M. Roberts, 2009. While the neoliberal model continues to dominate economic and political life in Latin America people throughout the region have begun to strategize about how to move beyond this model. What are the alternatives they imagine. Do these alternatives represent a genuine break. Twelve cutting edge papers investigate how Latin Americans are struggling to articulate a future in which neoliberalism is reconfigured.

Beyond the Apartheid Workplace Eddie Webster, Karl Von Holdt, 2005. Has the apartheid workplace changed over the past ten years of democracy in South Africa In order to answer this question the contributors of this book studied seventeen different workplaces including BMW a state hospital footwear sweatshops and the wine farming industry The editors broaden the definition of work to cover studies of the informal economy including street traders homeworkers and small rural enterprises Beyond the Apartheid Workplace shows how South Africa s triple transition towards political democracy economic liberalization and post colonial transformation has generated contradictory pressures at workplace levels A wide range of managerial strategies and union responses are identified demonstrating both continuities and discontinuities with past practices These studies reveal a growing differentiation within the world of work between stable formal sector work casualized and outsourced work and informal work where people struggle to make a living on the margins of the formal economy The majority of workplaces are marked by the persistence and reconfiguration of the apartheid legacy Deepening poverty and exclusion have been generated among great numbers of workers and their dependents Beyond Burnham Joseph P. Schwieterman, Alan P. Mammoser, 2009 Beyond Burnham provides a fascinating account of a century of visionary planning for metropolitan Chicago From Daniel Burnham and Edward Bennett s famed 1909 Plan of Chicago to the push for superhighways and airports to battles over urban sprawl the book showcases an illustrated portrait of the big personalities and the big plans they espoused The human face of planning appears in the interplay between public officials and citizen advocates Powerful institutions the Chicago Plan Commission and Regional Transportation Authority among others emerge to promote metropolitan goals Some efforts succeed while others fail but the work of planners lives on in efforts to shape new visions for the region s future
