Forms of Disappointment Lanie Millar, 2019-09-01 Analyzes parallel developments in post Cold War literature and film from Cuba and Angola to trace a shared history of revolutionary enthusiasm disappointment and solidarity In Forms of Disappointment Lanie Millar traces the legacies of anti imperial solidarity in Cuban and Angolan novels and films after 1989 Cuba's intervention in Angola's post independence civil war from 1976 to 1991 was its longest and most engaged internationalist project and left a profound mark on the culture of both nations After the fall of the Berlin Wall Millar argues Cuban and Angolan writers and filmmakers responded to this collective history and adapted to new postsocialist realities in analogous ways developing what she characterizes as works of disappointment Revamping and riffing on earlier texts and forms of revolutionary enthusiasm works of disappointment lay bare the aesthetic and political fragmentation of the public sphere while continuing to register the promise of leftist political projects Pushing past the binaries that tend to dominate histories of the Cold War and its aftermath Millar gives priority to the perspectives of artists in the Global South illuminating networks of anticolonial and racial solidarity and showing how their works not only reflect shared feelings of disappointment but also call for ethical gestures of empathy and reconciliation Forms of Disappointment offers an insightful and unique comparative analysis of a body of works produced in the post Cold War period By focusing on the Global South instead of the customary north south relationship favored by Cuba experts the book contributes significantly to the fields of Cuban African and Latin American Studies and more broadly to affect theory and postcolonial studies It is remarkably well written with elegant and clear prose
