Patterns of Caribbean Development Jay Mandle,2010-11-26 First published in 1982 this study attempts to put contemporary Caribbean development into historical perspective By first constructing a Marxist framework for the study of development Jay Mandle assesses the reasons why the region emerged underdeveloped and evaluates post world war two efforts to overcome the legacy of poverty through a strategy of industrialization through invitation Identifying the reasons why a Marxist framework yielded results which were unsatisfactory the author then explores the requirements which must be met for a more reliable study of the Caribbean s economic development Case studies of Cuba Jamaica Guyana Trinidad and Tobago examine the extent to which these requirements have been met The Global Political Economy of Trade Protectionism and Liberalization Tony Heron,2012 Examines the social political and economic impacts of trade paying attention to the textiles and clothing sector with respect to developing countries This book is suitable for those studying and researching international and comparative political economy developing area studies economics law and geography Torn Between Empires Luis Martínez-Fernández,1994-01-01 In his coverage of the intervening decades Martinez Fernandez ranges widely discussing for example expansionism and filibustering the Cuban Africanization Scare the regional impact of the American Civil War Haiti s repeated invasions of the Dominican Republic the mechanization of the sugar industry the polarization of Dominican politics and the annexationist reformist debate in Cuba The political economy of U.S.-Caribbean relations in the twentieth century Peter David Phillips,1987 The Political Economy of Caribbean Development M. Bishop,2013-09-12 Studies of the global political economy have rarely engaged with development in the Caribbean the thought of its indigenous intellectuals or the non sovereign territories of the region Matthew Bishop compares the development of the independent English speaking islands of St Lucia and St Vincent and their non sovereign French neighbours Martinique and Guadeloupe By explaining how distinctive patterns of British and French colonialism and decolonisation came to bear on them he investigates how very different patterns of development have subsequently ensued often with startling consequences in this era of globalization and crisis By engaging with the empirical reality of the Caribbean his study sheds light on a range of wider debates relating to development indigenous thought post colonial sovereignty small states and the contemporary evolution of the global political economy The Political Economy of U.S.-Caribbean Relations in the Twentieth Century Peter D. Phillips, 1987 The New Political Economy of United States-Caribbean Relations Tony Heron, 2017-07-05 This informative book brings a fresh perspective to the continuing debate about globalization and regionalization in the global political economy and the ways in which state policy in both developed and developing countries shapes the patterns of economic integration and competitiveness among participating countries and firms Focusing on the United States and the Caribbean the book traces the advent and subsequent growth of production sharing between outsourcing textile apparel firms and assembly operations located in specially designated export processing zones This case study allows a number of broad conclusions to be reached regarding the political economy of production sharing that will inform the work of those in the fields of international and comparative political economy development studies and business and management The Political Economy of U.S. Caribbean Relations in the Twentieth Century Peter David Phillips, 1991 Caribbean Patterns Harold Mitchell (Sir.), 1967 Human Rights Quarterly, 1981 A comparative and international journal of the social sciences humanities and law Library of Congress Catalogs Library of Congress, 1976 The Critical Tradition of Caribbean Political Economy Kari Levitt, Michael Witter, 1996 Puerto Rico Elena E.
