Beyond Purdah? Dagmar Engels, 1996 The author argues that purdah in early twentieth century Bengal meant far more than secluding women behind veils and walls it entailed an all encompassing ideology and code of conduct based on female modesty which pervaded women s lives Accordingly women s political experience and participation even if its significance can be established needs to be deconstructed and contextualized by looking at a wider range of discourses

Institutional Innovation and Change in Value Chain Development Holly A. Ritchie, 2016-03-02 George Bernard Shaw once said that reasonable people adapt themselves to the world but unreasonable people adapt the world to themselves In a sense this book explores how these so called unreasonable people may interact to re fashion the world around them in fragile economic development Drawing on empirical research in the volatile and traditional context of Afghanistan the study investigates the challenge of poor women s participation in business and diverse outcomes for local development Institutional Innovation and Change in Value Chain Development takes a unique look at nuanced institutional phenomena through the lens of social institutions with a subtle appreciation of the interaction of structure and agency Drawing on in depth qualitative research in

Afghanistan the case studies specifically investigate the transformation of the women's norm of purdah and the subsequent development of new market institutions in three women's enterprises Shedding new light on the opaque process of institutional change the research shows that external actors such as NGOs can both initiate and guide institutional development in fragile environments Yet there may be limitations to their endeavours with strong resistance from local power holders Meanwhile dominant entrepreneurs are shown to play a major role in fostering institutional development pathways This influences the scope of inclusion and exclusion in enterprise and value chains and broader streams of socio economic development

Beyond Eurocentrism Peter Gran,1996 Eurocentrism influences virtually all established historical writing With the rise of Prussia and by extension Europe eurocentrism became the dominant paradigm for world history Employing the approaches of Gramsci and Foucault Peter Gran proposes a reconceptualization of world history He challenges the traditional convention of relying on totalitarian or democratic functions of a particular state to explain and understand relationships of authority and resistance in a number of national contexts Gran maintains that there is no single developmental model but diverse forms of hegemony that emerged out of the political crisis following the penetration of capitalism into each nation In making comparisons between seemingly disparate and distinctive nations and by questioning established canons of comparative inquiry Gran encourages people to recognize the similarities between the West and non West nations Beyond Khyber Pass Into Forbidden Afghanistan Lowell Thomas,1925 Beyond Representation Crispin Bates,2006 The volume explores how the British rule and colonial constructions of identity affected the Indians It studies the impact of colonialism on Indian identity from the point of view that emphasizes disjunctures as much as continuities It also steps beyond this paradigm by airing a cross section of new and original research that examines the agency of Indians themselves in the process of identity formation and dialogical nature of Indian cultures Tropical Life and Stockfarming ,1928 Hearst's International Combined with Cosmopolitan ,1927 "Old For-ever"; an Epic of Beyond the Indus Alfred Ollivant,1923
