Carl Sternheim Text Kritik 87:

Metaphor II Jean-Pierre Noppen, Edith Hols, 1990-01-01 Metaphor though not now the scholarly mania it once was remains a topic of great interest in many disciplines albeit with interesting shifts in emphasis Warren Shibles Metaphor An Annotated Bibliography and History Bloomington Ind 1971 recorded the initial interest Then Metaphor A Bibliography of Post 1970 Publications published by John Benjamins continued the record through the mania years up to 1985 when writings proliferated as metaphor was seen to be a fundamental category in human thought and language Five years later there is a need for a report on the newest thinking and tendencies in the field This need is fulfilled by Metaphor II which offers a comprehensive view of information which would otherwise remain scattered throughout a numbing plethora of resources including many sometimes hard to find publications from Eastern Europe Metaphor II systematically collects references of books articles and papers published between 1985 and May 1990 and includes for completeness corrections and additions to the earlier bibliographies Abstracts are given for many of the titles while four indices disciplines semantic fields metaphor theory and names multiply the number of access points to the information

Mental Processes and Narrative Possibilities in the German Novelle, 1890-1940 David Turner, 2005 Although it concentrates on a particular historical period and although it examines a variety of individual works many of them acknowledged Novellen this study is neither an historical survey nor a collection of interpretations Its distinctive approach is taxonomical and comparative Taking as its starting point the surge of interest in the human mind as the nineteenth century drew to a close it examines the kinds of shorter narrative that were generated by that interest On the other hand therefore it investigates how by focusing on particular aspects of the mind writers were led to adopt certain narrative patterns or structures and on the other hand building on the work of Dorrit Cohn but extending her range considerably it explores and evaluates the different modes of presentation which writers exploited as they sought to give life to the inner workings of their characters According to some psychology and the Novelle are incompatible Although the investigation concludes that there is no inherent incompatibility between psychological interest and the aims of the Novelle it also demonstrates that psychological interest in shorter narratives does not always lead to Novellen it explores other narrative structures that may arise when particular models of the mind form their basis

From the Home Fires to the Battlefield Jean Wotschke, 1998 Wotschke challenges the overwhelming attention critics pay to the father son conflict in German Expressionist drama in the late 19th century and finds that mothers assume significant roles in the plots of many plays She surveys the spectrum of maternal roles in plays by Frank Wedekind Carl Sternheim Georg Kaiser Arnolt Bronnen Reihnard Johannes Sorge and Fitz von Unruh Developed from a doctoral dissertation for Pennsylvania State University Annotation copyrighted by Book News Inc Portland OR

Social comedy in Austria and Germany 1890-1933 John Richard Philip McKenzie, 1992 Social comedy in German speaking Europe in the twentieth century is marked by a distinctively complex relationship between comic fiction and social and political context. The study examines a representative selection of important works by major German and Austrian playwrights analysing the balance between comic convention and critical appraisal of the real world and assesses the special contribution to the comic mode made by each of the seven writers represented in particular it attempts to define the writers moral concerns in a period of unprecedented social and political change

The German Molière Revival and the Comedies of Hugo Von Hofmannsthal and Carl Sternheim Dugald S. Sturges,1993 Although they have yet to be treated together in a comparative study Hugo von Hofmannsthal and Carl Sternheim had a number of points of convergence in their respective searches for a modern form for the serious comedy This study documents the collegial relationship between the two authors in part with previously unpublished archival material analyses their respective treatments of Molière's comedies and places this in the context of Molière's reception in the German speaking countries since the 17th century What emerges is a new view of the comedies of Hofmannsthal and Sternheim which sees both dramatists applying the same technique of countermodelling Molière's constellations of comedic figures a modern critical re appraisal of the traditional comedic type character

Twentieth-century German Dramatists, 1889-1918 Wolfgang Elfe,James N. Hardin,1992 Profiles nearly thirty German playwrights from the period 1889-1918 presenting primary and secondary bibliographies and illustrated biographical essays that chronicle each writer's career in detail

German Expressionism in the United Kingdom and Ireland Brian Keith-Smith,1986

Carl Sternheim 1878-1942 Andreas Rogal,Dugald S. Sturges,1995 Carl Sternheim the German Molière is certainly not a forgotten author The Bergschreck of the early twentieth century had a renaissance of sorts in the 1970s evidenced by the reissue of his works in addition to the critical edition by Wilhelm Emrich and Manfred Linke most of his major plays and one volume of prose are now available in paperback Nevertheless Sternheim is not a household word not in Germany and certainly not abroad In 1992 the 50th anniversary of Sternheim's death November 1942 provided the impetus for a symposium held at the Institute of Germanic Studies in London which aimed to take another look at the author and his work to examine the significance of his work today its importance outside the German speaking countries his position in the greater context of German and European literature theatre music and philosophy

Sebald's Hybrid Poetics Lynn L. Wolff, 2014-04-02 This book offers a new critical perspective on the perpetual problem of literature's relationship to reality and in particular on the sustained tension between literature and historiography The scholarly and literary works of W G Sebald 1944-2001 serve as striking examples for this discussion for the way in which they demonstrate the emergence of a new hybrid discourse of literature as historiography This book critically reconsiders the claims and aims of historiography by re-evaluating core questions of the literary discourse and by assessing the ethical imperative of literature in the 20th and 21st centuries Guided by an inherently interdisciplinary framework this book elucidates the interplay of epistemological aesthetic and ethical concerns that define Sebald's criticism and fiction Appropriate to the way in which Sebald's works challenge us to rethink the boundaries between discourses genres disciplines and media this work proceeds in a methodologically non-dogmatic way drawing on hermeneutics semiotics narratology and discourse theory In addition to contextualizing Sebald within postwar literature in German the book is the first English language study to consider Sebald's oeuvre as a whole Of interest for Sebald experts and enthusiasts literary scholars and
