consumes us both I will strip her of her secrets and her pride until she belongs to no one else molding her to fit the space I've carved out in my dark world I'll burn this city to the ground to keep her in my grasp for I will destroy anyone who dares to take what belongs to me Even if it means drowning us both in the aftermath This is the second book in The Vargin Enclosure Reading order Collateral Debt The Gilded Noose Sovereign Ruin This is the second book in The Debt Principle Series Reading order Absolute Chaos Absolute Threat Absolute Ruin Beauty Will Save the World Brian Zahnd, 2012-01-03 In today's world we have technology convenience security and a measure of prosperity but where is the beauty For thousands of years artists sages philosophers and theologians have connected the beautiful and the sacred and identified art with our longing for God Now we live in a day when convenience and practicality have largely displaced beauty as a value The church is no exception Even salvation is commonly viewed in a scientific and mechanistic manner and presented as a plan system or formula In Beauty Will Save the World Brian Zahnd presents the argument that this loss of beauty as a principal value has been disastrous for Western culture and especially for the church The full message of the beauty of the gospel has been replaced by our desires to satisfy our material needs to empirically prove our faith and to establish political power in our world the exact same things that Christ was tempted with and rejected in the wilderness Zahnd shows that by following the teachings of the Beatitudes the church can become a viable alternative to current day political commercial and religious power and can actually achieve what these powers promise to provide but fail to deliver Using stories from the lives of St Francis of Assisi and from his own life he teaches us to stay on the journey to discover the kingdom of God in a fuller richer more beautiful way Giovanni Pascoli, Gabriele D'Annunzio, and the Ethics of Desire Elena Borelli, 2017-03-30 This book focuses on the notion of desire in late nineteenth century Italy and how this notion shapes the life and works of two of Italy's most prominent authors at that time Giovanni Pascoli and Gabriele D'Annunzio In the fin de siècle the philosophical speculation on desire inspired by Arthur Schopenhauer and Friedrich Nietzsche intersected the popularization of Charles Darwin's theory of evolution Within this context desire is conceptualized as an obscure force and remnant of mankind's animalistic origins Both Pascoli and D'Annunzio put into play the drama of desire as a force splitting the unity of the characters in their works and variously attempt to provide solutions to this haunting force within the human self Great Short Novels of the World Barrett Harper Clark, 1927 An anthology of short stories fairy tales myths and legends from around the world Before each short novel the editor has written a biographical sketch of the author and before each national grouping is a brief discussion of that country's place in world literature 22 Minutes of Unconditional Love Daphne Merkin, 2020-07-07 Daphne Merkin meets the formidable challenge of describing female lust and romantic obsession with all the desired daring candor and skill The result is a bracingly honest keenly insightful utterly compelling book Sigrid Nunez author of The Friend A harrowing compulsively readable novel about breaking free of sexual obsession A novel of unsurpassed candor punctuated by bold ruminations on love marriage family sex gender and relationships 22 Minutes of

Unconditional Love depicts one woman's psychological descent into sexual captivity. This is the story of the extremes to which she will go to achieve erotic bliss and of her struggle to regain her soul. As Daphne Merkin's audacious new novel opens, a wife and mother looks back at the moment when her life as a young book editor is upended by a casual encounter with an intriguing man who seems to intuit her every thought. Convinced she's found the one, Judith Stone succumbs to the push and pull of her sexual entanglement with Howard Rose, constantly seeking his attention and approval. That is until she realizes that beneath his erotic obsession with her, Howard is intent on obliterating any sense of self she possesses. As Merkin writes, his was the allure of remoteness, affection edged in ice. Escaping Howard's grasp and her own perverse enjoyment of being under his control will test the limits of Judith's capacity to resist the siren call of submission. Narrated by Judith in a time before the MeToo movement, 22 Minutes of Unconditional Love charts the persistent hold the past has on us and the way it shapes our present.

The Triumph of Death Gabriele D'Annunzio, 1896. The story is set in the Abruzzo region, the birthplace of the author. The noble aesthete Giorgio Aurispa, besotted with his unhappily married lover Ippolita, leaves Rome after witnessing a suicide. After a brief interlude with Ippolita in Albano, Giorgio receives a telegram from his mother who lives in the small mountain village of Guardiagrele. Giorgio arrives in the beautiful city of stone and is fascinated by the sculptures; however, he is equally haunted by popular superstitions and the memories of the suicide of his uncle Demetrio, whom he had loved as a father. Worse, Giorgio discovers that his actual father has squandered the family fortune, forcing his mother and siblings to live in poverty while he carries on with a prostitute. Giorgio curses his father, abandoning his family and runs to the sea, buying a house on a hill in San Vito Chietino. Ippolita joins him, and the two pursue a summer of decadent languor, marred only by Giorgio's developing paranoia towards her. Giorgio is additionally obsessed with death, and matters only become worse after the pair undertake a pilgrimage to the shrine of Casalbordino, where the multitude of desperate supplicants begging cures of the statue of the Madonna drives them away in horror. While Giorgio becomes more and more unmoored and desperate to leave both Abruzzo and what he perceives as Ippolita's unwholesome influence, she remains amused and fascinated by their surroundings. Finally, Giorgio decides that his only recourse is to carry her over a seaside cliff, killing both of them.

Surreal Michele Gerber Klein, 2025-04-01. Michele Gerber Klein at long last gives Gala Dal the close-up she deserves.
