Criminal Justice Network An Introduction:

The Criminal Justice Network Steven M. Cox, John E. Wade, 1998 Provides a practical overview of the complexities of the US criminal justice system This text emphasizes that the system can be best understood by showing its relationship with the public the role of discretion throughout the system and the effects of politics on daily operations The Decision-making Network Risdon N. Slate, Patrick R. Anderson, Lisa Carter, 2018 Introduction to Criminal Justice Steven M. Cox, William McCamey, 2008 The field of criminal justice is constantly changing as new laws are passed new technology is deployed old social problems continue to fester and surface and new social problems emerge The police are accused of racial profiling of charging innocent people with crimes they did not commit or that did not occur and of allowing corruption to run rampant in big city police departments At the same time community policing brings relief to neighborhoods plagued by crime and disorder for decades and the police have become guardians of public safety in the battle against terrorists Overcrowding in the courts leads to a denial of justice for many defendants but restorative justice offers alternatives to traditional court proceedings and holds out hope for both victim and offender New supermax prisons are built to house society's most dangerous offenders while new and exciting alternatives to incarceration are explored Helping students understand the nature and extent of such changes and the interrelationships among them is the goal of this text In this edition not only is there a new co author but we have made numerous other changes which include Updated references Discussion of recent cases which have attracted national attention Coverage of recent trends and concerns in criminal justice The fifth edition also features Expanded discussion of ethics Chapter 2 Expanded discussion of some types of crimes Chapters 3 and 4 Discussion of federalism Chapter 3 Coverage of the rise in use of methamphetamines Coverage of Internet crimes in our discussion of white collar offenses Chapter 5 Discussion of problem oriented and community oriented policing Chapter 6 Coverage of new issues in corrections Chapter 12 and victim witness rights Chapter 11 including the rebirth of restorative justice Pedagogical Aids To enhance learning we have included the following devices in every chapter Chapter opening vignettes to capture student interest Chapter outlines to provide a road map to reading each chapter In chapter In the News boxes to help students see the practical application of what they are reading End of chapter Internet Activities to encourage students to use the net as a research and learning tool End of chapter summaries and key terms lists to help students prepare for exams End of chapter Critical Thinking Exercises to encourage students to go beyond memorization of terms and concepts in their learning The Teacher's Manual is available electronically on a CD or via email Please contact Beth Hall at bhall@capress.com to request a copy PowerPoint slides available upon adoption To view sample slides from the 924 slide presentation click here Email bhall@capress.com for more information Philadelphia's Black Mafia S.P.
