Creative Impulse in Industry Helen Marot, 1918      War and the Creative Impulse Max Plowman, 1919      Creative Impulse in Industry: A Proposition for Educators Helen Marot, 2019-12-23 In Creative Impulse in Industry: A Proposition for Educators Helen Marot offers a compelling exploration of the intersection between creativity and industrial education in the early 20th century. Through a blend of contemporary analysis and passionate advocacy, Marot argues for a pedagogical shift that embraces creative thinking as essential for innovation in industry. Her literary style is both engaging and didactic, employing a straightforward narrative bolstered by practical examples and case studies. Contextually, this work emerges at a time when industrial education was often criticized for its rigid structures, calling for a reimagining of curricula to foster creativity among students. Helen Marot, an influential figure in educational reform, was deeply impacted by the burgeoning industrial landscape and the pedagogical debates of her time. Her background in teaching and her engagement with progressive educational movements equipped her with unique insights into the limitations of traditional educational models. Marot's commitment to integrating the arts with industrial training reflects her belief in the importance of holistic education, highlighting her advocacy for the role of creativity in fostering skilled and adaptable individuals. This book is a must-read for educators, policymakers, and scholars interested in the evolution of industrial education and the vital role of creativity in fostering innovation. Marot's vision encourages readers to reevaluate educational practices, making it a powerful tool for those invested in shaping future curricula that prioritize creative thinking alongside technical skills.

Mis-reading the Creative Impulse Adrianna M. Paliyenko, 1997 Building on work by Aristotle, Jacques Lacan, and Harold Bloom, Adrianna M. Paliyenko's richly textured study revises our previous understanding of Arthur Rimbaud's 1854-1891 indirect artistic influence on Paul Claudel (1868-1955). Paliyenko's analysis answers to critical readings that rely on speculative spiritual affinities and text surface similarities in identifying Claudel as Rimbaud's artistic follower. She traces the two writers' development of the poetic subject, striving to map Claudel's creative corrections or revisions of Rimbaud's work. In redirecting discussion of Rimbaud's work, she develops a Bloomian paradigm of how creative artists strive for originality by correcting or revising their predecessors.
