Children's Creative Music-Making with Reflexive Interactive Technology Victoria Rowe, Angeliki Triantafyllaki, Francois Pachet, 2016-10-14 Children's Creative Music Making with Reflexive Interactive Technology discusses pioneering experiments conducted with young children using a new generation of music software for improvising and composing. Using artificial intelligence techniques, this software captures the children's musical style and interactively reflects it in its responses. The book describes the potential of these applications to enhance children's agency and musical identity by reflecting players' musical inputs, storing and creating variations on them. Set in the broader context of current music education research, it addresses the benefits and challenges of incorporating music technologies in primary and pre-school education. It is comprised of six main chapters which cover the creation of children's own music and their musical selves, critical thinking skills, and learner agency, musical language development, and emotional intent during creative music making. The authors provide a range of straight-forward techniques and strategies which challenge conceptions of difficult-to-use music technologies in formal music education. These are supported by an informative collection of practitioner vignettes written by teachers who have used the software in their classrooms. Not only are the teachers' voices heard here, but also those of children as they discover some of the creative possibilities of music making. The book also provides free access to a companion website with teacher forums and a large bank of activities to explore. A toolkit serves as a database of the teaching activities in which MIROR applications have been used and provides a set of useful ideas regarding its future use in a variety of settings. This book demonstrates that music applications based on artificial intelligence techniques can make an important contribution to music education within primary and pre-school education. It will be of key interest to academics, researchers, and postgraduate students in the fields of music education, music technology, early years, and primary education, teaching and learning, and teacher educators. It will also serve as an important point of reference for Early Years and Primary practitioners.

Ecologies of Creative Music Practice Matthew Lovett, 2023-12-13 Ecologies of Creative Music Practice Mattering Music explores music as a dynamic practice embedded in contemporary ecological contexts, one that both responds to and creates change within the ecologies in which it is created and consumed. This highly interdisciplinary analysis includes theoretical and practical considerations from blockchain technology and digital platform commerce to artificial intelligence and the future of work, to sustainability and political ecology, as well as contemporary philosophical paradigms guiding its investigation through three main lenses: How can music work as a conceptual tool to interrogate and respond to our changing global environment? How have transformations in our digital environment affected how we produce, distribute, and consume music? How does music relate to matters of political ecology and environmental change? Within this framework, music is positioned as a starting point from which to examine a range of contexts and environments, offering new perspectives on contemporary technological and ecological discourse.
