Chen, Yung-Wei Hao, 2023-04-14 Education Management and Management Science Dawei Zheng, 2015-07-28 This proceedings volume contains selected papers presented at the 2014 International Conference on Education Management and Management Science ICEMMS 2014 held August 7-8 2014 in Tianjin China. The objective of ICEMMS2014 is to provide a platform for researchers, engineers, academicians, as well as industrial professionals from all over the world. Frontier Computing Jia-Wei Chang, Neil Yen, Jason C. Hung, 2022-01-01 This book gathers the proceedings of the 10th International Conference on Frontier Computing held in Singapore on July 10-13 2020 and provides comprehensive coverage of the latest advances and trends in information technology science and engineering. It addresses a number of broad themes including communication networks, business intelligence and knowledge management, web intelligence and related fields that inspire the development of information technology. The respective contributions cover a wide range of topics: database and data mining, networking and communications, web and Internet of things, embedded systems, soft computing, social network analysis, security and privacy, optical communication and ubiquitous pervasive computing. Many of the papers outline promising future research directions and the book benefits students, researchers and professionals alike. Further, it offers a useful reference guide for newcomers to the field. Creativity Among Four Groups of College Freshmen Beth Burrough Maxwell, 1975 College Student Personnel Abstracts, 1978 Successful Mental Health and Well-being Panch Ramalingam, 2019-01-01 School Psychology is a specialized branch of psychology to provide services that enhance academic performance, design strategies and programmes to address problems of adjustment, consult with other educators and parents on issues of social development and behavioural and academic difficulties, conduct psycho-educational assessment for purposes of identifying special needs, provide psychological counselling for individuals, groups and families and coordinate intervention strategies for management of individuals and school-wide crises. It is a field that applies principles of clinical psychology and educational psychology to the diagnosis and treatment of children's and adolescents' behavioural and learning problems. As such, the term also refers to and is meant to include educational psychologists and others who display qualities this document associates with school psychology. The primary role of school psychologists ranges from consultation to assessment to intervention in several aspects including mental health and well-being. They use a high level of training as well as collaboration with those in his or her setting to develop programmes of prevention and intervention so that a level playing ground can be provided to all the students. Hence, it is understood that the school psychologists are the key persons to mould the characters of the children in collaboration with the teachers and parents. This volume is an outcome of some of the papers presented during the 3rd International Conference and 6th InSPA International Conference on Successful Mental Health and Well-being held on 13-15 October 2016 at Pondicherry University, Puducherry. The conference was organized with the collaboration of Indian School Psychology Association (InSPA) by the Department of Applied Psychology of the Pondicherry University. There are twenty-two papers included in this volume. Hope this will help the researchers and professionals to find it useful resources for their research in the particular field of study Reward Effects on Creativity in High and Low Ability College Students Yann-Yuh Ellen Liou,1980 College from the Top of the Mind Bill Crawford Ph D,2015-10-10 College From The Top Of The Mind is designed to give college students new information about the neuropsychology of success Going way beyond stress management this book uncovers the science of becoming more influential in all aspects of your life and dealing with exams difficult people coursework relationships self worth time management and the future with more clarity confidence and creativity College Student Journal ,2006 Creativity as a Cornerstone for Developing Self, Voice, and Educational Persistence Christopher D. Richard,2012 The modern college student faces a variety of hurdles well before s he formally begins college Many issues are academic in nature but those that are not pose some of the greatest risks to student persistence and growth Students entering college face a loss of voice which becomes prevalent in the initial transition from secondary education into institutes of higher education However I believe that the general college environment which prizes and separates academic strength from understanding the self continues to stifle student growth This can have a great affect on many different aspects of student growth primarily in the personal and economic realms A de emphasis on understanding the self and its connection to academic growth can negatively affect the personal realm as it lowers the student s understanding of self as it pertains to the direction they wish to take in life A de emphasis on understanding the self and its connection to academic growth can negatively affect the economic realm by increasing the amount of time and money students spend floundering through college courses These occurrences demonstrate that separation of the personal from the academic works against college student s development as it does not speak to their lived experiences Colleges and universities exist in a time where complex forces motivate the students foray into higher education and the Voyage Multicultural Voices Program reflects that complexity in its multifaceted approach to learning The Voyage Multicultural Voices Program VMVP was created to allow first generation college freshman enrolled in a TRiO program at a public university in Connecticut to explore their voices in relation to lived experience and creative exercise The immediate aim of the VMVP was to assist students towards building bridges between personal and academic success Specifically the VMVP hypothesized that the creation of a program that actively and creatively emphasized student voice within the realms of community identity and social justice would provide students with the missing tools to succeed academically The VMVP explored these complicated connections through the creative writings and journals of fifty one college freshmen during a four week summer TRiO program Results were drawn from an analysis of their qualitative journal and writing exercises which focused on the shared themes of culture community voice and the self Upon completion of the VMVP it was found that the development of a strong sense of self through creative means can help students better understand their lives as related to their higher education goals thus leading to a greater passion to academically succeed in college Resources in Women's Educational Equity ,1977 Literature cited in AGRICOLA Dissertations abstracts
