Creativity Of God World Eucharist Reason:

The Creativity of God Oliver Davies, 2004 Theological tradition has lost sight of the createdness of the world separating knowledge of God and the world This book works towards the reintegration of Christian cosmology via the Johannine tradition of creation through the Word and a Eucharistic semiotic of Christ as the embodied creative speech of God

Remythologizing Theology Kevin J. Vanhoozer, 2010-01-14 The rise of modern science and the proclaimed death of God in the nineteenth century led to a radical questioning of divine action and authorship Bultmann's celebrated demythologizing Remythologizing Theology moves in another direction that begins by taking seriously the biblical accounts of God's speaking It establishes divine communicative action as the formal and material principle of theology and suggests that interpersonal dialogue rather than impersonal causality is the keystone of God's relationship with the world This original contribution to the theology of divine action and authorship develops a fresh vision of Christian theism It also revisits several long standing controversies such as the relations of God's sovereignty to human freedom time to eternity and suffering to love Groundbreaking and thought provoking it brings theology into fruitful dialogue with philosophy literary theory and biblical studies

Edward Schillebeeckx and Contemporary Theology Lieven Boeve, Frederiek Depoortere, Stephan van Erp, 2010-12-09 Creation and Religious Pluralism David Cheetham, 2020-08-21 In the well worn debates about religious pluralism and the theology of religions there have been many different rubrics used to account for comprehend or engage with the religious other This book is chiefly a work of Christian theology and seeks to bring the doctrine of creation and the theology of religions into dialogue and in so doing it comes at things from a different direction than other works It contains an extensive exploration of the doctrine of creation and asks how it might intervene distinctively in these discourses to produce a new conceptual and practical topography It will consider inter religious engagement from the perspective of the doctrine of creatio ex nihilo that forms the dominant view in the Jewish Christian and Islamic traditions The book pays close consideration to anthropology i e creaturehood the quotidian and wisdom the idea of sabbath human action and work and vivifying the immanent through a consideration of some representative phenomenologists The book will develop these ideas in a more practical direction by considering sacraments and rituals in the public sphere as well as attempting to describe the kind of creational politics that might bring traditions into dialogue Whilst these themes challenge more conventional ways of considering relations between religions such themes because they are different from concerns commonly found in the literature can also be profitably engaged with across the spectrum of opinion i e exclusivist or pluralist etc Thus whilst the position adopted in this work is creatio ex nihilo part of the motivation is to review the ways in which this focus helps to broaden rather than limit the discussion

The God Who Acts in History Craig G. Bartholomew, 2020-01-21 Did the decisive event in the history of Israel even happen The Bible presents a living God who speaks and acts and whose speaking and acting is fundamental to his revelation of himself God's action in history may seem obvious to many Christians but modern philosophy has problematized the idea Today many theologians often use the Bible to speak of God while at best remaining agnostic about whether he has in fact acted in history Historical revelation is central to both Jewish and Christian theology Two major events in the Bible showcase divine agency the revelation at Sinai in Exodus and the incarnation of Jesus in the gospels Surprisingly there is a lack of serious theological reflection on Sinai by both Jewish and Christian scholars and those who do engage the subject often oscillate about the historicity of what occurred there Craig Bartholomew explores how the early church understood divine action looks at the philosophers who derided the idea and finally shows that the reasons for doubting the historicity of Sinai are not persuasive The God Who Acts in History provides compelling reasons for affirming that God has acted and continues to act in history Contact with Reality Esther Lightcap Meek, 2017-05-05 Is knowledge discovered or just invented Can we ever get outside ourselves to know how reality is in itself independent of us Philosophical realism raises the question whether in our knowing we connect with an independent reality or only connect with our own mental constructs Far from being a silly parlor game the question impacts our lives concretely and deeply Modern Western culture has been infected with antirealism and the doubt skepticism subjectivism relativism and atheism that attends it not to mention distrust and arbitrary mis use of reality Premier scientist turned philosopher Michael Polanyi stepped aside from research to offer an innovative account of knowing that takes its cue from how discovery actually happens Polanyi defied the antirealism of the twentieth century sounding a ringing note of hope in his repeated claim that in discovery we know we have made contact with reality because we have a sense of the possibility of indeterminate future manifestations And that sense marks contact with reality because it is the way reality is abundant generous and fraught with as yet unnameable possibilities This book examines that distinctive claim contrasting it to the wider philosophical discussions regarding realism and antirealism in the recent decades It shows why Polanyi s outlook is superior and why that matters not just to scientific discoverers but to us all The Book Review Digest ,2006 Forthcoming Books Rose Arny,2004 Knowing the Unknowable John Bowker,2009 Albert Einstein once remarked that behind all observable things lay something quite unknowable This book explores that special territory perceived by Einstein where the unknown takes over from everything that is understandable familiar explicable The Philosophical Review Jacob Gould Schurman,James Edwin Creighton, Frank Thilly,Gustavus Watts Cunningham,2006 Auslegung ,2004 Bibliographie de la philosophie International Institute of Philosophy,2004 American Catholic Philosophical Quarterly ,2004 Transformation Theology Oliver Davies,Clemens Sedmak,Paul D. Janz,2007 This book is the fruit of a close collaboration between three leading scholars with a background in systematics philosophical theology and ethics It sets out a new account of how incarnation is mediated in the world of space and time leading to a new orientation of theology within the world The doctrinal from above and philosophical from below sections lead to a new exposition of Christian life in confrontation with deepseated problems of ethics and justice The three pieces closely interweave with each other in the elaboration of a new kind of practical doctrinal theology of full philosophical integrity Incarnation Anyway Edwin Christian van Driel,2008-08-21 This book raises in a new way a central question of Christology what is the divine motive for the incarnation Throughout Christian history a majority of Western theologians have agreed that God s decision to become incarnate in the person of Jesus Christ was made necessary by the Fall if humans had not sinned the incarnation would not have happened This position is known as infralapsarian A minority of theologians however including some major nineteenth and twentieth century theological figures championed a supralapsarian Christology arguing that God has always intended the incarnation independent of the Fall Edwin Chr van Driel offers the first scholarly monograph to map and analyze the full range of supralapsarian arguments He gives a thick description of each argument and its theological consequences and evaluates the theological gains and losses inherent in each approach Jacket
