Including the Audience in Integrated Marketing Communication and Branding:

Social Media, Gaming, and Beyond Elizabeth Crisp Crawford, Emory Daniel, Shu-Yueh Lee, 2026-03-05 Digital media has changed the consumer brand relationship. Traditionally brands were created by professional marketers. Now advertising is a collaborative effort that includes the audience. Social media allows audience members to respond to promotional materials in real time and consumers can generate their own messages and memes regarding a variety of products, services, and issues of interest. This democratization of advertising facilitates a communication environment that is both hyper personalized and multifaceted. As organizations lose control of their brands, the door has opened to a new polycentric communication environment that fosters influencer marketing and increases the importance of word of mouth communication in a variety of contexts. Against this background, the purpose of this Research Topic is to explore the wide range of perils and possibilities that this expanded frontier in communication provides, with particular emphasis on the ways that audiences can participate in integrated marketing communications (IMC). Contributions to this Research Topic can explore how a polycentric and hyper personalized media environment affects audience member engagement and perceptions of brands and issues. Articles can also explore the message strategies and communication tactics that audience members contribute to the IMC process. In addition to dealing with social scientific topics, contributions can investigate the ethical and legal issues related to audience participation in advertising to their own peers. Although audience inclusion in IMC has some potential drawbacks, it can also generate more meaningful consumer information. Therefore, a variety of perspectives on the topic of audience participation in IMC are welcomed. As the goal of this article collection is to increase the scope of our knowledge of how audience members participate in the IMC and branding process and the influence of this increased participation on advertising and promotional efforts, the scope of the Research Topic is wide. The Topic Editors welcome articles that take a social scientific perspective as well as critical and cultural perspectives. Audience participation can be studied in a variety of contexts, including mobile, digital, and social media environments, gaming, virtual and augmented reality events, and social gatherings, or any other context where audiences might shape promotional communication and branding. In addition to exploring how audience participation shapes IMC, articles can also explore how increased audience participation in branding influences consumers. Interdisciplinary contributions are encouraged.

Entrepreneurial journalism in greater China and Southeast Asia

Judith Clarke, 2021-12-30 Exploring startup journalism and digital media platform trends in China, Taiwan, and Southeast Asia, this book offers a practical insight into how to launch and run successful news operations as digitisation spreads through the region. Drawing from a range of case studies of news and journalism startups, including Malaysiakini, Hong Kong Free Press, The News Lens of Taiwan, Thailand's The Standard, Ciwei Gongshe of China, Indonesia's IDN Media, Sabay of Cambodia, and Frontier Myanmar, this book provides tips on how to launch a news media startup, how to find funding, and how to sustain and scale the enterprise. Blending a theoretical approach with core business and newsgathering expertise, the author offers an engaging overview of contemporary entrepreneurial concepts and their vital relationship in finding new markets for
