Documentary Making for Digital Humanists

Darren R. Reid,Brett Sanders,2021-11-02 This fluent and comprehensive field guide responds to increased interest across the humanities in the ways in which digital technologies can disrupt and open up new research and pedagogical avenues It is designed to help scholars and students engage with their subjects using an audio visual grammar and to allow readers to efficiently gain the technical and theoretical skills necessary to create and disseminate their own trans media projects Documentary Making for Digital Humanists sets out the fundamentals of filmmaking explores academic discourse on digital documentaries and online distribution and considers the place of this discourse in the evolving academic landscape The book walks its readers through the intellectual and practical processes of creating digital media and documentary projects It is further equipped with video elements supplementing specific chapters and providing brief and accessible introductions to the key components of the filmmaking process This will be a valuable resource to humanist scholars and students seeking to embrace new media production and the digital landscape and to those researchers interested in using means beyond the written word to disseminate their work It constitutes a welcome contribution to the burgeoning field of digital humanities as the first practical guide of its kind designed to facilitate humanist interactions with digital filmmaking and to empower scholars and students alike to create and distribute new media audio visual artefacts

Creating Communities of Practice Oswald Jones,PingPing Meckel,David Taylor,2021-02-01 This book introduces concepts of business incubation and suggests a learning process This process begins with prior knowledge at the opportunity identification phase progresses through the acquisition of new skills and knowledge necessary to develop an opportunity and concludes with a transformation phase where new knowledge is acted upon The book draws on extensive qualitative data and documentary evidence from a range of stakeholders associated with a University Business Incubator known as Innospace The process of opportunity development within the business incubator is explored by combining experiential and social learning theories as heuristic tools Presented implications for policy makers and incubator managers are that attention and scarce resources should be focused on providing relevant information and encouraging an atmosphere of learning and mutual support Recruitment practices should be revised to include a more holistic appreciation of potential incubatees contribution to the Business Incubation learning community as well as an assessment of their business plans For policy makers the book suggests that successful business incubators do not necessarily require a large financial investment in state of the art premises and technology Appropriate management training together with carefully selected incubatees can create an effective learning community where opportunities are developed and transformed into enterprises and individuals into entrepreneurs
