Jumping the Color Line Susie Trenka, 2021-02-02 From the first synchronized sound films of the late 1920s through the end of World War II African American music and dance styles were ubiquitous in films Black performers however were marginalized mostly limited to appearing in specialty acts and various types of short films whereas stardom was reserved for Whites Jumping the Color Line discusses vernacular jazz dance in film as a focal point of American race relations Looking at intersections of race gender and class the book examines how the racialized and gendered body in film performs challenges and negotiates identities and stereotypes Arguing for the transformative and subversive potential of jazz dance performance onscreen the six chapters address a variety of films and performers including many that have received little attention to date Topics include Hollywood s first Black female star Nina Mae McKinney male tap dance class acts in Black cast short films of the early 1930s the film career of Black tap soloist Jeni LeGon the role of dance in the Soundies jukebox shorts of the 1940s cinematic images of the Lindy hop and a series of teen films from the early 1940s that appealed primarily to young White fans of swing culture With a majority of examples taken from marginal film forms such as shorts and B movies the book highlights their role in disseminating alternative images of racial and gender identities as embodied by dancers images that were at least partly at odds with those typically found in major Hollywood productions College Songs, 1906

Our Day Joseph Cook, Hazlitt Alva Cuppy, 1889 Bob Hope William Robert Faith, William Faith, 2009-04-24 Reporter What s it like to be Bob Hope Hope I wouldn t have it any other way From Bob Hope s early career as an upstart among professionals like Jack Benny and Milton Berle in the rollicking world of traveling comedians to his blazing success as a radio television and film star this completely revised and updated version of William Faith's acclaimed biography takes a straightforward appreciative and very funny look at Hope's life and times on the occasion of his 100th birthday. Filled with anecdotes, photographs, and plenty of jokes, the book reveals the real Bob Hope from his boyhood in England and youth in Cleveland to his present status as a living legend: a full-blooded, authentic appraisal of the man and his humor, a comic institution who is also a brilliant businessman, manipulator of the media, and politically influential figure. And of course, Hope is the man who brought laughter and cheer and long-legged beauties to GIs throughout the world. At a time when patriotic fervor has never been running higher, it's worth recalling the singular tribute paid Hope by none other than John Steinbeck. When the time for recognition of service to the nation in wartime comes to be considered, Bob Hope should be high on the list. He gets laughter wherever he goes from men who need laughter. Happy 100th Bob.

THE ENCYCLOPEDIA AMERICANA, 1920 Film Year Book, 1938 The Art of Selling Movies John McElwee, 2017-02-20. The Art of Selling Movies presents the first ever look at 60 years of newspaper advertising for motion pictures, great and small. These ads, created by Hollywood and adapted by local and regional exhibitors, motivated patrons to leave their homes, part with precious income, and spend time in the dark. Because of the high stakes involved, theater operators used wildly creative means to make that happen. They made movie advertising equal parts art and psychology, appealing to every human instinct, especially sex, in an effort to push product and keep their theatres in business. From the pen and ink masterpieces of the 1920s and 30s to location-specific folk art to ad space jam-packed with enticements for every member of the family, The Art of Selling Movies dissects the psyche of the American movie-going public and the advertisers seeking to push just the right buttons.
