Alternative Assessments with Gifted and Talented Students

Joyce VanTassel-Baska, 2008 Alternative Assessments With Gifted and Talented Students provides a concise and thorough introduction to methods for identifying gifted students in the school setting. Including overviews of assessment tools and alternative methods of assessment as well as pertinent discussions concerning the need to identify gifted and talented students, this book combines research and experience from top scholars in the field of gifted education in a convenient guide for teachers, administrators, and gifted education program directors. Topics covered include the need for nonverbal testing with traditionally unidentified students, the identification of students from minority populations, the value of using traditional assessments with students, the role of creativity tools as a measure of giftedness, and the use of portfolios, products, and performance-based assessment to document learning, among others. This handy guide to assessing and identifying gifted students is a necessity for anyone serving and working with this population. The Assessment Debate Valerie J. Janesick, 2001-11-14 An authoritative reference on one of education's hottest topics, describing how the latest testing and assessment tools can be used to help improve student performance. In this comprehensive review of the wealth of techniques by which students can be assessed, Valerie J. Janesick points out that the politics of schooling often gets in the way of student progress. High-stakes standardized testing is frequently based on poorly constructed, unfair tests that encourage teaching to the test, which actually impedes educational goals. Authentic testing relies more on essays and writing samples, performances, demonstrations, and role plays. Although it is fairer and provides a measure of student growth and progress, it requires more effort by teachers, who also require extra training. Besides discussing authentic assessment in detail, The Assessment Debate includes a chronology, an annotated directory of organizations supporting performance assessment, a list of state coordinators for testing reform, and state-by-state report cards. Everyday Mathematics: Assessment handbook, 2004 Everyday Mathematics: Assessment handbook University of Chicago. School Mathematics Project, 2001 Handbook of Accessible Achievement Tests for All Students Stephen N. Elliott, Ryan J. Kettler, Peter A. Beddow, Alexander Kurz, 2011-04-28 The Handbook of Accessible Achievement Tests for All Students: Bridging the Gaps Between Research, Practice, and Policy presents a wealth of evidence-based solutions designed to move the assessment field beyond universal standards and policies toward practices that enhance learning and testing outcomes. Drawing on an extensive research and theoretical base, as well as emerging areas of interest, the volume focuses on major policy concerns, instructional considerations, and test design issues, including the IEP team's role in sound assessment, the relationships among opportunity to learn, assessment, and learning outcomes, innovations in computerized testing, and the 6D framework for standard setting. Legal issues in the assessment of special populations, guidelines for linguistically accessible assessments, evidence-based methods for making item modifications that increase the validity of inferences from test scores, strategies for writing clearer test items, methods for including student input in assessment design, suggestions for better measurement and tests that are more inclusive. This Handbook is an essential reference for researchers, practitioners, and graduate students in education and allied disciplines.

including child and school psychology social work special education learning and measurement and education policy A Framework to Guide Selection of Chemical Alternatives National Research Council, Division on Earth and Life Studies, Board on Environmental Studies and Toxicology, Board on Chemical Sciences and Technology, Committee on the Design and Evaluation of Safer Chemical Substitutions: A Framework to Inform Government and Industry Decisions, 2014-10-29

Historically regulations governing chemical use have often focused on widely used chemicals and acute human health effects of exposure to them as well as their potential to cause cancer and other adverse health effects As scientific knowledge has expanded there has been an increased awareness of the mechanisms through which chemicals may exert harmful effects on human health as well as their effects on other species and ecosystems Identification of high priority chemicals and other chemicals of concern has prompted a growing number of state and local governments as well as major companies to take steps beyond existing hazardous chemical federal legislation Interest in approaches and policies that ensure that any new substances substituted for chemicals of concern are assessed as carefully and thoroughly as possible has also burgeoned The overarching goal of these approaches is to avoid regrettable substitutions which occur when a toxic chemical is replaced by another chemical that later proved unsuitable because of persistence bioaccumulation toxicity or other concerns Chemical alternative assessments are tools designed to facilitate consideration of these factors to assist stakeholders in identifying chemicals that may have the greatest likelihood of harm to human and ecological health and to provide guidance on how the industry may develop and adopt safer alternatives A Framework to Guide Selection of Chemical Alternatives develops and demonstrates a decision framework for evaluating potentially safer substitute chemicals as primarily determined by human health and ecological risks This new framework is informed by previous efforts by regulatory agencies academic institutions and others to develop alternative assessment frameworks that could be operationalized In addition to hazard assessments the framework incorporates steps for life cycle thinking which considers possible impacts of a chemical at all stages including production use and disposal as well as steps for performance and economic assessments The report also highlights how modern information sources such as computational modeling can supplement traditional toxicology data in the assessment process This new framework allows the evaluation of the full range of benefits and shortcomings of substitutes and examination of tradeoffs between these risks and factors such as product functionality product efficacy process safety and resource use Through case studies this report demonstrates how different users in contrasting decision contexts with diverse priorities can apply the framework This report will be an essential resource to the chemical industry environmentalists ecologists and state and local governments
