

A close-up photograph of a person's hands, wearing a dark suit jacket and a blue tie, holding two interlocking wooden puzzle pieces. The puzzle piece on the left is held by the left hand and has the word "DISPUTE" printed on it in red, uppercase letters. The puzzle piece on the right is held by the right hand and has the word "RESOLUTION" printed on it in red, uppercase letters. The two pieces are joined together, forming a continuous horizontal bar. The background is slightly blurred, showing the person's torso and the blue tie.

Collective Bargaining for Police and Other Essential Services Giuseppe Carabetta, 2024-10-14 This book examines how collective bargaining disputes are resolved among police and essential service employees In Australia as in other common law countries police and other highly essential employees such as fire fighters and ambulance officers have long had access to a form of binding arbitration to settle collective bargaining disputes The traditional arbitration based system in Australia has however been replaced in recent decades with a marked based collective bargaining system The current Fair Work system restricts access to arbitration favouring collective bargaining based on the parties prerogative to make their own agreements and supported by a limited right to industrial action including strikes during bargaining Yet police officers particularly are subject to considerable restraints on any entitlement to participate in industrial action The problem is that with limited access to arbitration and an especially limited right to industrial action intractable disputes may continue indefinitely without any impasse breaking process to prevent the flow on harms of long running police disputes This raises the essential question underpinning this study what form of dispute resolution system is appropriate to protect both the legitimate industrial interests of police officers and the community s interest in the uninterrupted provision of essential policing services The author in his extensive field work research and his study of international case studies has developed a useful model for mandatory interest arbitration among police and other essential services personnel The lessons and recommendations in the book offer insights for essential services labour law in Australia and overseas

The Public Sector Pay System in Israel OECD, 2021-07-26 This report analyses the pay system in Israel s public sector and provides recommendations to align it with the strategic priorities of the government It recommends ways to simplify job classification and better match pay to market rates particularly in areas where the public sector has trouble competing for talent

Alternative Dispute Resolution in the Regulatory Process Deirdre McCarthy Gallagher, Richard Miles, Jerrilynne Purdy, 2020-06-01 An in depth look at the institutionalization of alternative dispute resolution ADR processes in the federal and state regulatory arenas over the past twenty five years this volume showcases the value of these processes and highlights the potential for their expanded application and growth It describes ADR techniques how to use them and how to integrate them into existing processes using examples from the Federal Energy Regulatory Commission and three state utility regulatory commissions The book recounts ADR successes recognizing that traditional litigative methods may not always meet the needs of agencies the parties or the public Institutionalizing these processes requires a systematic commitment to different approaches to problem solving and ultimately cultural change The authors spearheaded initiatives to integrate these processes and skills at the federal level Drawing from valuable insights gained from their experience the authors introduce a versatile new ADR system design model the Voices of Value which aims to enhance input creativity and effectiveness in regulatory and other public arenas as well as the private sector Public Sector ,1998 BNA's Alternative Dispute Resolution Report ,1989 Alternative Dispute Resolution and Land and Environment Disputes in Nigeria ,2003 The Law of Alternative Dispute Resolution Margaret C. Jasper,2000 The Law of Dispute Resolution focuses on the process of litigation and explores the alternative approaches to dispute resolution and the circumstances under which they are applied It also discusses the roles of individuals who are involved with these procedures and the guidelines which they are required to follow The Legal Almanac series serves to educate the general public on a variety of legal issues pertinent to everyday life and to keep readers informed of their rights and remedies under the law Each volume in the series presents an explanation of a specific legal issue in simple clearly written text making the Almanac a concise and perfect desktop reference tool All volumes provide state by state coverage Selected state statutes are included as are important case law and legislation charts and tables for comparison Directory of Alternative Dispute Resolution Organizations in the United States , Annual Directory of Alternative Dispute Resolution Organizations in the United States ,1992 Alternative Dispute Resolution 1990 Ontario.
