Before Sunset Christopher S. Davis, 2025-06-20 Through a presentation of the oldest rock art dated in the Americas located in Monte Alegre Brazil this book analyzes an ancient ecological astronomy strategy that theoretically made the rapid human migration in the Americas successful It helps answer two vital questions long held by scholars and the general public alike How did humans survive the rapid and massive climate changes at the end of the ice age And how did founding populations especially in the Americas manage successful settlement relatively rapidly in ecosystems entirely foreign to them It further initiates questions about the universal role that astronomy and even astrology might have played in cognitive human evolution and the success of burgeoning sedentism and eventual civilization throughout the world The book makes a substantial contribution because of the wealth of cultural information it provides from Monte Alegre It explains the author's analysis of pictographs lithics and landscape modifications that were excavated there and provides novel findings on the chronology and archaeoastronomy of the art This book is indispensable for courses about Paleoindians peopling of the Americas environmental anthropology cosmology rock art studies archaeoastronomy paleoecology paleoethnobotany and Amazonia The pan American indications of this work will appeal to archaeologists historians art historians folklorists Native American and Indigenous scholars evolutionists cognitive scientists geographers and the general public

Visualising Skyscapes Liz Henty, Daniel Brown, 2019-08-19 Above the land and its horizon lies the celestial sphere that great dome of the sky which governs light and darkness critical to life itself yet its influence is often neglected in the archaeological narrative Visualising Skyscapes captures a growing interest in the emerging field of skyscape archaeology This powerful and innovative book returns the sky to its rightful place as a central consideration in archaeological thought and can be regarded as a handbook for further research Bookended by a foreword by archaeologist Gabriel Cooney and an afterword by astronomer Andrew Newsam its contents have a wide reaching relevance for the fields of archaeology anthropology ethnography archaeoastronomy astronomy heritage and cultural studies The volume balances six chapters on theory and methodology which elaborate on the history and practice of the field with six other chapters focused on case studies from around the world Visualising Skyscapes captures the growing interest in the multidisciplinary study of skyscapes and will be of interest to academics students and the general public as well as having international appeal It is topical timely and relevant to current debates and will hopefully stimulate further interest in this exciting and relatively new area of investigation The contributions showcase the work of distinguished academics in the field and the chapters are all enhanced by numerous photographs and images
