Atlas Of Breeding Birds In Britain And Ireland:

The Atlas of Breeding Birds in Britain and Ireland, 1976 The Historical Atlas of Breeding Birds in Britain and Ireland 1875-1900 Simon Holloway, 2010-01-31 The Historical Atlas of Breeding Birds in Britain and Ireland 1875 1900 provides an account of the distribution changes of Britain and Ireland's birds over the last quarter of a century The Atlas of Wintering Birds in Britain and Ireland Peter Lack, 2010-11-30 This companion volume to The Atlas of Breeding Birds of Britain and Ireland is derived from surveys of birds present in Britain and Ireland during the three winters 1981 82 1982 83 and 1983 84 The surveys were organised by the British Trust for Ornithology and the Irish Wildbird Conservancy as were the earlier breeding birds surveys The Winter Atlas maps 200 species 192 of which have full page two colour maps faced by a page of text The texts written by over 100 specialists comment on the survey results the species generally and the distribution and abundance as mapped In addition there are introductory chapters on the maps the weather in the three winters bird patterns and movements and appendices describing the planning organisation field methods and processing of the survey data from record cards to computer output and maps A team of 23 artists led by Robert Gillmor has provided the line drawings which head the species accounts The Atlas of Breeding Birds in Britain and Ireland J.T.R. Sharrock, 2010-12-30 The Atlas plots the results of the survey organised by the BTO and the IWC during the years 1968 72 Over 250 maps show the distribution of 218 species The Atlas of Breeding Birds in Britain and Ireland J. T. R. Sharrock, 1976 The New Atlas of Breeding Birds in Britain and Ireland: 1988-1991 David Wingfield Gibbons, James B. Reid, Robert A. Chapman, 1993 This long awaited new book is a significant advance over the first volume The first text was a result of the first national survey of breeding birds completed more than 20 years ago with maps from data only on the confirmed or probable breeding of each species in a given grid square This more detailed volume presents three maps for each species account one showing breeding distribution as before a second in full color showing relative abundance of the species throughout its range a third map highlighting changes in distribution between the current original surveys Text tables vignette complete each double page spread A detailed introduction outlines the methods used in the survey work explains the various analyses of the data gathered Appendixes give details of rare breeders a wealth of extra tabular data All in all this is an indispensable reference for every ornithologist with an interest in British birds Bird Atlas 2007-11: The Breeding and Wintering Birds of Britain and Ireland Dawn Balmer, Simon Gillings, Brian Caffrey, Bob Swann, Iain Downie, Rob Fuller, 2014-08-14 Recommended for viewing on a colour tablet The Bird Atlas 2007 2011 is the definitive statement on breeding and winter bird distributions in Britain and Ireland The New Breeding Atlas of Breeding Birds in Britain and Ireland, 1988-1991 David Wingfield Gibbons, James B. Reid, Robert A. Chapman, 2011-03-30 This companion volume to The Atlas of Wintering Birds in Britain and Ireland see back flap is derived from yearly surveys of breeding birds in Britain and Ireland during 1968 72 organised by the British Trust for Ornithology and the Irish Wildbird Conservancy Each of the 3 862

10 km squares of Britain and Ireland was visited during the five years and the resulting records over 285 000 are summarised in the maps The full page maps plot the known distribution of all but 11 of the 229 breeding species located during the survey period Each map has an accompanying text which describes the species habitat the problems involved in proving breeding the historical background to the species range and any changes in its numbers The probable reasons for these changes are discussed and an attempt made to assess the total number of birds for each species The book is a major triumph for the BTO and IWC and a fitting reward to the many thousands of field workers who made its compilation possible It is an indispensable source of up to date information a pleasure to read a spur to thought and further enquiry and by no means least a most elegant example of book production Stanley Cramp British Birds This remarkable work is one of the most exciting ornithological achievements of the century the book is admirable in every way it is beautifully produced and charmingly illustrated with black and white vignettes on nearly every page of text Above all it provides an authoritative account of the present situation in due course it will also serve as a standard against which to measure future changes Excellent value and strongly recommended G L A W Wildfowl News Jacket design by Robert Gillmor Bird Atlas 2007-11 Dawn E. Balmer, Simon Gillings, Brian Caffrey, 2013 This is the definitive statement on breeding and winter bird distributions in Britain and Ireland It shows how the fortunes of birds have changed over the last forty years The Atlas of Wintering Birds in Britain and Ireland Peter Lack, British Trust for Ornithology, Irish Wildbird Conservancy, 1986 Birds in Ireland Clive Hutchinson, 2010-09-30 Birdwatching has become an increasingly popular pastime in Ireland as elsewhere Nor is all of the birdwatching done by the Irish Many professional ornithologists from Britain and Western Europe find good reason to study Ireland's birds as do the numerous birdwatching visitors each year Clive Hutchinson a leading Irish ornithologist has compiled this comprehensive review of birds in the Republic and Northern Ireland to coincide with the 21st anniversary year of the Irish Wildbird Conservancy's foundation and he has had the IWC's active support throughout The book is timely for other reasons too Knowledge about the status and distribution of birds in Ireland has increased greatly since the 1960s and this is reflected in the detailed species accounts which form the major part of the book Factors which led to this greater knowledge recent changes in bird distribution and status and reasons for the absence of some species are topics discussed in the book's introductory chapters Other subjects covered are Ireland's topography climate and habitats a review of ornithology and ornithologists in Ireland over the last 100 years and conservation programmes of more recent times John Busby's superb illustrations more than 100 are a feature of the book helping to set the Irish scene as well as its birds Jacket paintings by John Busby The Birds of Nottinghamshire Nick Crouch, Jason Reece, Bernie Ellis, Chris du Feu, David Parkin, 2019-11-29 The last comprehensive review of Nottinghamshire's birds was produced more than four decades ago Much has changed since then and a new avifauna is long overdue This book draws together historic reports from the nineteenth century records from the files of the county bird club Nottinghamshire Birdwatchers and data from national and regional surveys and monitoring programmes The resulting account presents an overview of the present state of the county's birdlife set against a context of environmental and climatic change The gravel pits in the Trent and Idle Valleys form major corridors for birds moving across Britain and Nottinghamshire has attracted more than its share of national rarities These include Britain's first Egyptian Nightjar and Lesser Yellowlegs in the nineteenth century Bufflehead Redhead Cedar Waxwing and breeding Black-winged Stilts in the twentieth century and a memorable nesting attempt by European Bee-eaters in 2017 The woods and heaths of Sherwood lying in the middle of the county also provide a haven for an array of iconic species including European Nightjar Eurasian Woodcock Honeybuzzard and Hawfinch This book describes the past and present status of the 334 species that have been recorded in Nottinghamshire up to 2018 Lavishly illustrated with photographs taken within the county and sketches from the internationally recognised artist Michael Warren it is intended to be an authoritative reference to the birds of Nottinghamshire
