Principles and Practice of Geriatric Surgery Ronnie Ann

Rosenthal, Michael E. Zenilman, Mark R. Katlic, 2011-07-12
In the preface to this impressive and well produced book the editors state that their aim is not to describe a new surgical specialty since most surgeons will soon need to be geriatric surgeons but to assemble a comprehensive account that will allow all providers of healthcare to the elderly to understand the issues involved in choosing surgery as a treatment option for their patients
This is a useful book that deserves to do well
I hope that the editors and their publisher will have the stamina to make this the first of several editions as it is clear that updated information about surgery in the elderly will be required to keep pace with this important field

Databook on Geriatrics G.S. Rai,V. Pearce,2012-12-06 The aim of these short notes is to provide the newcomer to the speciality of geriatrics with a wide though not exhaustive differential diagnosis of most of the commonly encountered symptoms in the elderly and to draw particular attention to the common and important disorders The common causes of symptoms and the common dis eases as well as certain features which have special importance to the medicine of the elderly are emphasized A final section on investigations with short notes which one may employ in the practice of geriatric medicine is included along with an appendix of normal values for the elderly In our view this book does not show how geriatric medicine is practised but it does provide an outline of clinical aspects of medicine geriatrics knowledge of which is essential to the practice of geriatrics G S R V P Foreword I take the view that if vitality is reduced to the extent that it interferes with life as the old person would wish to live it then a proper medical assessment should be made as part of the overall appraisal of that person s problems The provision of a home help or the meals on wheels service cannot be expected to revitalize the person suffering from hypothyroidism or pernicious anaemia In the event both medical treatment and social support may be needed and to provide one without the other would be half measures Clinical Biochemistry of the Elderly H. M. Hodkinson, 1984
