Making Movement Modern Whitney E. Laemmli, 2026-02-24 Explores how researchers used systems for recording human movement to navigate the relationship between mind and body freedom and control and the individual and the state In the early twentieth century human bodily movement garnered interest among researchers who were convinced that understanding and controlling it could help govern an increasingly frazzled fragmented world Making Movement Modern traces one movement visualization technique Labanotation from its origins in expressionist dance Austro Hungarian military discipline and contemporary physiology to its employment in factories and offices a half century later Frustrated by societies that seemed plagued by regimentation and alienation the users of Laban inspired systems from artists and scientists to factory owners politicians lawyers anthropologists psychiatrists and computer scientists hoped to provide opportunities for individual expression while simultaneously harnessing movement to serve the needs of larger communities businesses and states Making Movement Modern reveals how Labanotation s creator choreographer Rudolf Laban and his acolytes offered this system to a surprising variety of individuals and groups It was a technique that promised liberation through expressive movement it was also a means of organizing fascist displays of pure Aryan culture The book explores these political ambiguities as Laban based systems entered postwar society in the United States and the United Kingdom where they were used to document disappearing folk cultures treat Holocaust survivors and make even the dullest most repetitive work feel spiritually meaningful Central to these efforts were vast programs to collect and store new kinds of personal movement data and this history also has much to tell us about mass data collection today This is a book for anyone interested in the relationship between art science data and the human body across the tumultuous twentieth century Dictionary Catalog of the Dance Collection New York Public Library. The novel begins with Richard Papen, a bright but troubled young man, arriving at Hampden College. Richard is immediately drawn to the group of students who call themselves the Classics Club. The club is led by Henry Winter, a brilliant and charismatic young man. Henry is obsessed with Greek mythology and philosophy, and he quickly draws Richard into his world. The other members of the Classics Club are equally as fascinating. Bunny Corcoran is a wealthy and spoiled young man who is always looking for a good time. Charles Tavis is a quiet and reserved young man who is deeply in love with Henry. Camilla Macaulay is a beautiful and intelligent young woman who is drawn to the power and danger of the Classics Club. The students are all deeply in love with Morrow, and they are willing to do anything to please him. Morrow is a complex and mysterious figure, and he seems to be manipulating the students for his own purposes. As the students become more involved with Morrow, they begin to commit increasingly dangerous acts. The Secret History is a masterful and suspenseful novel that will keep you wondering until the very end. The novel is a warning tale about the dangers of obsession and the power of evil.
