An Introduction To Politics Lectures For First Year Students:

An Introduction to Politics Trevor Munroe, 2002 This introduction to politics is designed for first year students in social sciences and for the general reader interested in the basics of contemporary politics. The text's various sections and lecture summaries deal with the important areas of political science: different systems of democratic government, the fall of communism and post-communist politics, as well as issues in Caribbean politics such as globalization, constitutional reform and regional integration.

Democracy in Transition Kyriakos N. Demetriou, 2012-12-22 The papers in this collection, written by a cross-regional group of experts, provide insights into the causes of declining levels of citizen participation and other distinct forms of civic activism in Europe and explore a range of factors contributing to apathy and eventually disengagement from vital political processes and institutions. At the same time, this volume examines informal or unconventional types of civic engagement and political participation corresponding to the rapid advances in culture, technology and social networking. The volume is divided into three interrelated parts. Part I consists of critical essays in the form of theoretical approaches to analysing weakening political participation and citizen estrangement. Part II is dedicated to an exploration of the role and deployment of technologically advanced media such as the internet as determinants of changing patterns of political participationist behaviour. Finally, Part III presents findings of empirical research on the issue of political participation. Combining theoretical and empirical perspectives, the book contributes towards a better understanding of the disquieting trend of voter apathy and disenchantment with politics in the context of the ongoing process of European integration and offers a variety of analytical tools for decoding both the emergence of alternative conceptualizations of citizenship and other forms of meaningful civic and political engagement.

Overcoming the Corruption Conundrum in Africa Anzani Lufuno Munyai, 2020-01-15 This book adopts a holistic approach to identifying what could be done to surmount the corruption conundrum in the African continent. It acknowledges the objective reality of corruption in Africa and identifies primary solutions to the issue. The volume takes a socio-legal approach in order to reveal the nature and extent of corruption and suggests that solutions can be found simply by interrogating how society reacts to it. In conjunction with this, the book identifies and critiques constraints in the formation of a definitive definition of corruption. As shown here, although it is critical for African states to develop anti-corruption strategies, the solution to the problem requires an understanding of the significance of political will and how the lack thereof has led to the endurance of corruption in Africa.

Learning About Politics in Time and Space Richard Rose, 2014-12-01 Richard Rose's memoir vividly describes first-hand experience of the transformation of politics in Europe and the United States since 1940. He has been tear-gassed in Chicago, seen walls go up in Belfast and come down in Berlin. The author's education in the streets and in the corridors of political power give a unique perspective on discrimination by race, religion and class and the world in which political scientists live today. Rose has distilled a 500 page book into a three minute Oval Office explanation to George W Bush of why America s intervention in Iraq was a disaster He gives practical advice to political scientists about how to make words into concepts and communicate what you know to others inside and outside universities The book s photographs show memorials to the dead and living evidence of how election forecasting has changed since Delphi Using skills developed since teaching himself to type at the age of eight Rose describes his 20 years of working in newspapers radio and television before publishing his first book Since then he has combined social science methodology along with the methodologies of comparative drama and the applied arts to write many innovative books This is the latest Announcement Science & Art University of Michigan.
