An Integral Approach to Development Economics Basheer A. Oshodi,2016-04-15 Developing economies such as those in sub Saharan Africa are searching for realistic economic policy prescriptions Despite economic growth in countries like Nigeria poverty and unemployment blight the lives of many in the midst of plenty Simultaneously much neo classical economic thought is being questioned against the backdrop of global economic meltdown giving rise to inquiry about more integral approaches to sustainable development In An Integral Approach to Development Economics Basheer Oshodi examines modernization theories dependency theories world system theories and emerging 21st century economic theories and links a neo modern mix of economic thought with the practicalities of finance in parts of the World where poverty is rife In a specifically African setting over half of the population are Muslims Oshodi considers Islamic finance in the context of the triple heritage of indigenous culture Westernized Christianity and Islam He argues that the principles of Islamic banking and finance can be integrated with other elements of that heritage focusing on meeting the challenges of poverty and unemployment Islamic finance is not just a religiously oriented Sharia compliant alternative financial model It can contribute to overall socio economic transformation and a wider people centred approach to economic development International organizations financial institutions reserve banks policy makers donor agencies and students will find resonance in this valuable addition to Gower s Transformation and Innovation Series An Introduction to Place-Based Development Economics and Policy Gilberto Seravalli,2015-02-11 This book introduces the reader to local development economics and policy with a special focus on the place based paradigm that covers its justification its difficulties and the types of public intervention that it suggests The starting point for the analysis is that economic development in lagging places is not to be expected as the result of a mechanism of automatic convergence between backward and advanced regions and that therefore the most appropriate development policy is not to maximize competition among all agents in all sectors and places The failure of the Washington Consensus is examined and the two competing positions to have emerged from this failure spatially blind interventions and place based policies are contrasted The main shortcoming of spatially blind policies namely that immobile resources that could trigger or support a development process often remain untapped or trapped is emphasized The limitations of the big push state intervention and wage flexibility solutions to this trap are analyzed and the merits of place based policies that support intervention and can deal with uncertainty risk and conflict are discussed Development Economics P. N. (Raja) Junankar,2016-05-26 The papers in this book study economic development from the perspective of social justice and economic efficiency exploring the role of land tenure and productivity in Indian agriculture Junankar discusses the efficiency of small farms versus large farms and the role of share cropping tenancy Development economics: An aspect of development Akampurira Abraham,2014-02-01 Development economics entail all the aspects of the development process especially meant for the developing countries to overcome the challenges that impede development This can be through education education and man power development restructuring market incentives incorporating favorable social and political approaches and practices among other factors Human beings however need streamlined social and economic systems that are able to achieve development through major changes in social structures national institutions cultures and attitudes as well as eradication of poverty reduction of income inequality and acceleration of economic growth The developing world needs a multi disciplinary approach and ideas so as to come out of the economic backward situation Micheal P describes that because of heterogeneity of the developing world and the complexity of the development process development economics must be eclectic attempting to combine relevant concepts and theories from traditional economics analysis along with new models and broader multi disciplinary approaches from historical and co temporally development experience of Africa Asia and Latin America Debraj Ray puts it that development economics studies economics of the developing world and has made excellent use of economic theory econometrics anthropology sociology political science biology and demography It needs a lot more dimensional approach to understand it
