Morgan, 1994-01-01

This report is intended to assist designers of smoke ventilation systems in atrium buildings. Most of the methods advocated are the outcome of research into smoke movement and control at the Fire Research Station FRS but also take into account experience gained and ideas developed whilst the authors and their colleagues have discussed many proposed schemes with interested parties. The primary purpose of the Report is to summarise in a readily usable form the design advice available from FRS at the time of its preparation. As such it does not attempt to cover installation detailed specification of hardware or aspects of fire safety engineering other than smoke control.

Architectural, Construction, Environmental and Digital Technologies for Future Cities Natalia Potienko, Elena Ahmedova, Antonina Karlina, Vladimir Faerman, 2022-04-27

This book offers an overview of Russian and international experience in developing the concept of future cities and its practical implementation. The concept of future cities is associated with several important trends. The first trend is the sustainable development of the urban environment and the implementation of eco friendly technologies and materials in civil construction industrial and power plants. The harmonious coexistence of the citizens with all forms of nature in the urban habitat becomes a great value. The second trend is the individualization of the aesthetical and architectural image of the future cities. The city's unique flavor based on the blending of the historical legacy and architectural traditions is now as important as the utility of the environment. The third trend is the digitalization of the urban environment with the use of state of the art sensors information and communication technologies and data science. The efficiency of operations and services achieved by the extensive use of complex IoT networks becomes a value as well. The last trend is the adaptation of the urban and social environment for individual demands of a community and a person. Individual comfort and safety are now more important than ever before. By addressing these trends the volume discusses local and international plans practices and technologies aimed at the development and implementation of future cities.

Daylight in Atrium Buildings CRC Press, P. J. Littlefair, M. E. Aizlewood, 1998. Daylight is an essential component of a visually attractive and energy efficient atrium building. However the atrium itself needs enough light for circulation purposes and to sustain plant growth good control of electric lighting is vital for energy efficiency and areas surrounding the atrium can suffer from poor penetration of natural light unless care is taken in design. Solar shading also needs to be considered. This paper explains the issues involved and gives guidance. It will be of interest to architects engineers and their clients.

Adopting the Melody of Term: An Emotional Symphony within Atrium Buildings

In a global eaten by monitors and the ceaseless chatter of immediate interaction, the melodic beauty and emotional symphony created by the prepared word often disappear into the background, eclipsed by the persistent sound and disruptions that permeate our lives. Nevertheless, nestled within the pages of Atrium Buildings a stunning fictional value filled with natural thoughts, lies an immersive symphony waiting to be embraced. Crafted by an elegant composer of language, that fascinating masterpiece conducts readers on a mental trip, well unraveling the hidden melodies and profound impact resonating within each cautiously crafted phrase. Within the depths with this poignant analysis, we shall investigate the book is central harmonies, analyze their enthralling writing fashion, and surrender ourselves to the profound resonance that echoes in the depths of readers souls.
