The Responsive Museum Caroline Lang, John Reeve, 2016-02-24 What is the relationship today between museums galleries and learning The Responsive Museum interrogates the thinking policies and practices that underpin the educational role of the museum It unravels the complex relationship of museums with their publics and discusses today's challenges and the debates that have resulted The highly experienced team of writers including museum educators and directors share their different experiences and views and review recent research and examples of best practice They analyse the implications of audience development and broadening public access particularly in relation to special groups minority communities and disabled people and for individual self development and different learning styles they explore issues of public accountability and funding discuss the merits of different evaluation tools and methodologies for measuring audience impact and needs and assess the role of architects designers and artists in shaping the visitor experience The latter part of this book reviews practical management and staffing issues and training and skills needs for the future This book is for students museum staff especially those involved in education and interpretation and senior management and policy makers This is a much needed review of the relationship between museums and galleries and their users It also offers a wealth of information and expertise to guide future strategy and practice

Contemporary Art and the Home Colin Painter, 2020-05-26 The home is for many people the location for their most intense relationships with visual things Because they are constructed through the objects we choose domestic spaces are deeply revealing of a range of cultural issues How is our interpretation of an object affected by the domestic environment in which it is placed Why choose a stainless steel teapot over a leopard print one How do the images hanging on the walls of our homes arrive there In placing contemporary art in the context of the ordinary home this book embarks on the contentious topic of whether high art impacts on ordinary people What is the size and nature of the audience for contemporary art in Britain Do people really visit more art galleries than attend football matches What is the significance of the home in relation to such questions Indeed what constitutes art in the home This book carefully unpicks these questions as well as the troubled relationship between the home as a place of comfort and reassurance and the often unsettling and challenging images offered by contemporary art Within the art world the home has been addressed as a subject and even used as a temporary gallery and a space for installations and yet it is not common for works by today's avant garde artists to be conceived and marketed to participate in the domestic lives that most people live Handsomely illustrated this book unites contemporary art craft and design with sociology anthropology and cultural studies to provide an unusual and forthright addition to ongoing art and culture debates

Museum Marketing Ruth Rentschler, Anne-Marie Hede, 2009-11-04 Museums have moved from a product to a marketing focus within the last ten years This has entailed a painful reorientation of approaches to understanding visitors as customers new ways of fundraising and sponsorship as government funding decreases and grappling with using the internet for marketing This book brings the latest in marketing thinking to bear on the museum sector taking into account both the commercial issues and social mission it involves Carefully structured to be highly accessible the book offers A contemporary and relevant and global approach to museum marketing written by authors in Britain Australia the United States and Asia An approach that reflects the particular challenges museums of varying sizes face when seeking to market an experience to a diverse set of stakeholders audience funders sponsors and government A particular focus on museum marketing in the Information Age Major case studies at the beginning and end of each section of the book and smaller case studies within chapters The hugely experienced author team includes both leading academics and practitioners to ensure the book has broad appeal and is both relevant innovative and progressive in approach It will be essential reading for students in museum studies non profit marketing and arts management and marketing It will also be equally relevant for professionals working in and managing museums and galleries heritage attractions and ministries of arts

The Representation of Islam in British Museums Ian Heath,2007 The role of museums in creating and maintaining both cultural identities and their stereotypes is an area of debate and discourse in both archaeology and museology Despite the long history of the collection and public display of Islamic material there has been no systematic research into either its representation or into public perceptions of these representations This programme of research represents the first such study of the representation of Islamic material culture in British museums This commences with the discussion and evaluation of the history of contact between the Islamic world and Europe in general and Britain in particular Much of the history of this discourse is framed in terms of supra regional identity i e European and Islamic or Muslim These are constructed identities and the history of their construction is discussed before moving on to consider contemporary issues In addressing the subject of the representation of Islam in museums this work undertakes to examine both its production and consumption The production of representation and the creation of identity are achieved in museums through the medium of the display of material whilst consumption occurs through the medium of visiting and the meaning made by visitors In order to evaluate such production displays of Islamic material in museums are the subject of critical analysis This research has a qualitative element and seeks to tap into the perceptions of museum visitors of current museum displays Given the role played by museums in the construction of identity the questions underpinning this are firstly what are the messages they receive about the world of Islam and secondly what do these displays say about the Islamic world past and present

Incentives to Learn Edward Miguel,Rebecca Thornton,2005 We report results from a randomized evaluation of a merit scholarship program for adolescent girls in Kenya Girls who scored well on academic exams had their school fees paid and received a cash grant for school supplies Girls eligible for the scholarship showed significant gains in academic exam scores average gain 0 12 0 19 standard deviations and these gains persisted following the competition There is also evidence of positive program externalities on learning boys who were ineligible for the awards also showed sizeable average test gains as did girls with low pretest scores who were unlikely to win Both student and teacher school attendance increased in the program schools We discuss implications both for understanding the nature of educational production functions and for the policy debate surrounding merit scholarships
