Charity And Community In Medieval Cambridge:

Charity and Community in Medieval Cambridge Miri Rubin, 2002-05-09 This is a detailed study of the forms in which charitable giving was organised in medieval Cambridge and Cambridgeshire unravelling the economic and demographic factors which created the need for relief as well as the forms in which the community offered it Charity in a Medieval Community Elizabeth Pauline Rothrauff, 1994

Routledge Revivals: Community, Gender, and Individual Identity (1988) David Aers, 2024-11-01 First published in 1988 David Aers explores the treatment of community gender and individual identity in English writing between 1360 and 1430 focusing on Margery Kempe Langland Chaucer and the poet of Sir Gawain He shows how these texts deal with questions about gender the making of individual identity and competing versions of community in ways which still speak powerfully in contemporary analysis of gender formation sexuality and love Making wide use of recent research on the English economy and communities and informed by current debates in the theory of culture and gender the book will be of interest to those concerned with medieval studies Renaissance studies and women s studies

Cremetts and Corrodies P. H. Cullum, 1991 Art of Illness Wendy J. Turner, 2023-12-01 There is a long history of inventing illness such as pretending to be sick for attention or accusing others of being ill This volume explores the art of illness and the deceptions and truths around health and bodies from a multiplicity of angles from antiquity to the present The chapters which are based on primary source evidence ranging from antiquity to the late twentieth century are divided into three sections The first part explores how the idea of faking illness was understood and conceptualized across multiple fields locations and time periods The second part uses case studies to emphasize the human element of those at the center of these narratives and how their behavior was shaped by societal attitudes The third part investigates the development of regulations and laws governing malingering and malingerers Altogether they paint a picture of humans doing human actions cheating lying stealing but also hiding surviving working This book s careful accessible scholarship is a valuable resource for academics scientists and the sophisticated undergraduate audience interested in malingering narratives throughout history

Constructing a Civic Community in Late Medieval London David Harry, 2019 An examination of the growth of civic power in the turbulent arena of late medieval London In the late fourteenth century London s government through mismanagement and negligence experienced a series of crises Relationships with the crown were tested competing factions sought to wrest power from the hands of the once all powerful victualling guilds revolt in the streets in 1381 targeted the institutions of royal as well as civic power and between 1392 and 1397 King Richard removed the liberties of the city and appointed his own wardensto govern in place of the mayor of London This book examines the strategies employed by the generation of London aldermen who governed after 1397 to regain control of their city By examining a range of interdisciplinary sources including manuscript and printed books administrative records accounts of civic ritual and epitaphs the author shows how by carefully constructing the idea of a civic community united by shared political concerns and spiritual ambitions a small number of men virtually monopolised power in the capital More generally this is an exploration of the mentalities of those who sought civic power in the late Middle Ages and provokes the question why govern and for whom DAVID HARRY is Lecturer in History at the University of Chester St. Anthony's Hall Publications, 1988

Charity and Welfare James Brodman, 1998 Hospitals were broadly conceived in the Middle Ages as establishments that received pilgrims and travelers tended to the poor and with the professionalization of medicine increasingly came to provide care for the sick and dying In Charity and Welfare James Brodman surveys the networks of hospitals and charitable institutions in medieval Catalonia that gave food to the hungry dowries to indigent women shelter to the homeless and palliative care to the ill Caritas Katie Barclay, 2021-01-28 Caritas a form of grace that turned our love for our neighbour into a spiritual practice was expected of all early modern Christians and corresponded with a set of ethical rules for living that displayed one's love in the everyday Caritas was not just a willingness to behave morally to keep the peace and to uphold social order however but was expected to be felt as a strong passion like that of a parent to a child Caritas Neighbourly Love and the Early Modern Self explores the importance of caritas to early modern communities introducing the concept of the emotional ethic to explain how neighbourly love become not only a code for moral living but a part of felt experience As an emotional ethic caritas was an embodied norm where physical feeling and bodily practices guided right action and was practiced in the choices and actions of everyday life Using a case study of the Scottish lower orders this book highlights how caritas shaped relationships between men and women families and the broader community Focusing on marriage childhood and youth sinful sex privacy and secrecy and hospitality towards the itinerant poor Caritas provides a rich analysis of the emotional lives of the poor and the embodied moral framework that guided their behaviour Charting the period 1660 to 1830 it highlights how caritas evolved in response to the growing significance of romantic love as well as new ideas of social relation between men such as fraternity and benevolence Women in Medieval English Society P.
