Who knows you better –

your mother

your best friend?

In our weekly experiment, single people who are looking for a partner ask their mother and their best friend to help.

This week's single person is Charlotte Ramirez, a 25-year-old web designer. Her father is Spanish and her mother is English. She lives in Brighton and she doesn't have a partner at the moment. Her mother, Alice, chooses a man she thinks is perfect for her daughter and her best friend, Katie, chooses another. Then Charlotte goes on a date with each man. Which one does she prefer?

I love going to the cinema, but I often feel like staying at home with a good book," says Charlotte. "I'm quite friendly and sociable and I get on well with most people. I think I have a good sense of humour."

"What kind of men do I like? Well, I like interesting men who can make me laugh. Physically, I prefer men with a really nice smile who are taller than me. And I don't usually like men with beards! I like men who are into literature and art, and classical music."

"I'm not sure who is going to choose better for me. Both my mum and my best friend know me very well. Perhaps Katie could find me a guy who is physically more compatible, but my mother has known me for longer!"

In the Spirit, In the Dark Najja K. Baptist,2026-02-03 How Black music shapes the political identity consciousness and engagement of Black youth From Rihanna and Kendrick Lamar to J Cole and Janelle Monae Najja K Baptist shows us how Black music has more than ever before become a form of political participation and resistance that has socialized and mobilized a new generation of Black youth leading them to enter and remain engaged with large scale activist movements Drawing on surveys with hundreds of youth interviews with artists and activists and in depth content analysis Baptist shows us how the creation and consumption of Black music has made movements like Black Lives Matter possible As Black music both responds to and educates its listeners about catalytic political events like police killings it simultaneously heightens develops and sustains the political consciousness of Black youth particularly in the age of social media Baptist finds that music predicts and further shapes their larger public attitudes toward government political leaders and policies in addition to encouraging more traditional forms of political participation such as organizing and attending protests Ultimately Baptist invites us into the fascinating often hidden space where young Black political consciousness is born and cultivated driving many to become agents of change
