Global Anti-Money Laundering Regulation Nkechikwu Azinge-Egbiri,Nicholas Ryder,Ehi Eric Esoimeme,2024-11-25 This book explores the politics of money laundering and terrorist financing ML TF regulation in several countries across Africa and the Small Island States Developed countries created the Financial Action Task Force FATF to combat ML TF globally Expectedly the FATF s standards mirror existing banking regulations within the G7 countries Yet the standards apply to all countries irrespective of the limited ML TF risks they pose to the global economy their weak pre conditions for effective regulation and their non involvement in the FATF s framing Still such countries mainly within the Global South have worked hard to amplify their compliance with the regime due to fears of the repercussions of their non compliance This collection demonstrates how the global ML TF regulation is treated as an implicitly superior legal regime where the Global South must comply irrespective of their perception of the FATF s legitimacy challenges It shows that beyond exogenous factors such as neo colonialism endogenous factors such as weak institutions and corruption undermine the compliance trajectory of the Global South Furthermore it analyses the unintended consequences of transplanting FATF standards into diverse legal and cultural contexts The volume contributes to our understanding of the challenges of transplantation from the Global North and how the Global South is steering within the constraints created by the FATF It advocates for a comprehensive understanding of the nuanced compliance challenges of developing countries It further proposes practical solutions to address them emphasizing the importance of risk based understanding accountability capacity building and coordination in achieving effective anti money laundering and counter terrorist financing measures The collection will be essential reading for researchers academics and policy makers working in financial crime regulation and international economic law

Regulating and Combating Money Laundering and Terrorist Financing Nkechikwu

Azinge-Egbiri,2021-03-01 This book analytically reviews the impact of the global anti money laundering and counter terrorist financing AML CFT framework on the compliance trajectory of a number of jurisdictions to this framework The work begins by examining the international financial sector reform and its evolution to inculcate the global framework for AML CFT regulations It challenges the resulting uniform AML CFT due to its paradoxical impact on the compliance trajectory of African countries and emerging economies ACs EEs This is done through an examination of the pre conditions for effective regulation and compliance drivers for ACs EEs that reveals the behavioural impact of the AML CFT standards on the bloc of countries Through the application of agency theory it explores the relationship between ACs EEs on the one hand and the international financial institutions that formulate disseminate and facilitate compliance with the global framework for AML CFT standards on the other The remaining chapters review empirically the compliance pressures and resulting compliance trajectory of ACs EEs with the AML CFT standards The final part of the book provides a detailed explanation of the compliance challenges of ACs EEs and the legitimacy concerns that facilitate this This book offers a new direction on the impact of global AML CFT standards on ACs EEs and contributes to the understanding of the conditions under which the global standards are likely to facilitate proactive compliance within these blocs of countries As such it will be a valuable resource for academics researchers and policy makers working in this area

The Scale and Impacts of Money

Laundering Brigitte Unger,Elena Madalina Busuioc,2007 Money laundering is a problem of some magnitude internationally and has long term negative economic impacts This work gives an interdisciplinary overview of the state of the art of money laundering as well as describing the legal problems of defining and fighting money laundering

Targeting Terrorist

Financing Arabinda Acharya,2009-09-11 This book examines the dynamics of terrorist financing including a discussion about the importance of money from both the terrorist and the counter terrorist perspective Targeting Terrorist Financing argues that it is not the institutions that have failed the war on terrorist financing rather it is the states that have failed the institutions The measures contemplated by the world community to interdict terrorists and their financial infrastructures are sufficient to debilitate the terrorists both militarily and financially However what has been increasingly lacking is political will among the states and this has overwhelmed the spirit of cooperation in this very critical front against terrorism This volume assesses the need for international cooperation and the role of institutions and regimes in targeting terrorist financing After the 9 11 attacks there was an expression of global willingness to target terrorism generally and terrorist financing in particular The institutional mechanisms that grew out of this are explored in detail here with a critical examination of the progress made by the international community The impact of these measures is considered with respect to changes in the nature of the terrorist threat money confiscated adoption of international conventions and global standards by states and levels of compliance among others This book will be of great interest to students of terrorism international organisations international security and IR in general Arabinda Acharya is Research Fellow Manager of Strategic Projects and Head of the Terrorist Financing Response Project at the International Centre for Political Violence and Terrorism Research in the S Rajaratnam School of International Studies Nanyang Technological University Singapore

Controlling Currency Mismatches in Emerging Markets Morris Goldstein, Philip Turner, 2004 In most of the currency crises of the 1990s the largest output falls have occurred in those emerging economies with large currency mismatches a phenomenon that occurs when assets and liabilities are denominated in different currencies such that net worth is sensitive to changes in the exchange rate Currency mismatching makes crisis management much more difficult since it constrains the willingness of the monetary authority to reduce interest rates in a recession for fear of initiating a large fall in the currency that would bring with it large scale insolvencies The mismatching also produces a fear of floating on the part of emerging economies sometimes inducing them to make currency regime choices that are not in their own long term interest Morris Goldstein and Philip Turner summarize what is known about the origins of currency mismatching in emerging economies discuss how best to define and measure currency mismatching and review policy options for reducing the size of the problem

Has Globalization Gone Far Enough? Scott C. Bradford, Robert Z. Lawrence, 2004 Annotation How important are the remaining barriers to integration in international goods markets and how would eliminating them affect global and individual countries welfare This book studies these questions using the most comprehensive price data available Bradford and Lawrence find that there is considerable market fragmentation among industrial countries that is firms charging different prices for similar products in different national markets even among countries with low tariff barriers The authors estimate that integration among the eight countries in their sample Australia Canada Germany Italy Japan the Netherlands the United Kingdom and the United States would raise global GDP by more than 500 billion or about 2 percent Remarkably almost half the global gain in these eight countries could be reaped if Japan alone eliminated its international fragmentation

Roots of Competitiveness Daniel H. Rosen, Scott Rozelle, Jikun Huang, 2004 Roots of Competitiveness China's Evolving Agriculture Interests examines China's interests in global agriculture trade liberalization It begins with an overview of China's policy behavior in recent WTO talks and then goes back to describe the reform foundations that got China to this point This study seeks to clarify for uncertain observers China's underlying interests on the question of agriculture trade liberalization whether to go faster slower not at all beyond the status quo or even backwards

Bailouts Or Bail-ins? Nouriel Roubini, Brad Setser, 2004 Roughly once a year the managing director of the International Monetary Fund the U S treasury secretary and in some cases the finance ministers of other G 7 countries will get a call from the finance minister of a large emerging market economy This book looks at these situations and the options available to alleviate the problem

,2006 Trade Policy and Global Poverty William R. Cline,2004 Annotation This study examines the impact of industrial country protection on poverty in developing countries Transforming the European Economy Martin Neil Baily,Jacob F. Kirkegaard,2004 As industries evolve and restructure the ability of an economy to adapt to new economic conditions its ability to change direction determines its success over the long run Europe and Japan grew rapidly for many years but now faced with greater challenges their economies have either failed to generate enough jobs or have failed to achieve the highest levels of productivity or both While the US has economic problems the advantage of its greater flexibility has allowed it to be alone among the three powers in sustaining very high productivity and very strong employment opportunities In this text Martin Neil Baily examines the policies that should be followed to facilitate economic adjustment and rapid economic growth in the new environment He emphasizes three key forces driving a change of direction expanded global competition the increased use of information and communications technologies and the development of the global financial system Baily says that these have created a new economy due to increased intensity of competition as well as altered demand patterns and changes in the way businesses operate Foreign Affairs ,2005 Free Trade Agreements Jeffrey J. Schott,2004 Economists and trade policymakers address the US initiatives to enter into free trade negotiations with a broad range of countries in the Asia Pacific region the Western Hemisphere and Africa The sheer number of these initiatives is unprecedented and has provoked major policy questions concerning US interests in the negotiations the setting of priorities among the many contenders for concluding free trade agreements FTAs with the United States the objectives of those trading partners and the implications that these agreements could have for broader initiatives such as the Doha Round of global trade talks and the Free Trade Area of the Americas The papers in the volume present the conceptual case for FTAs and how they have worked in the past examine what FTAs imply for the broader global system and discuss specific agreements that are already being pursued Australia Central America Morocco and the Southern African Customs Union or considered ASEAN Brazil Egypt Korea and Taiwan The volume includes a technical appendix with results of simulations of the trade and welfare effects of prospective agreements Back cover Inflation Targeting in the World Economy Edwin M. Truman,2003 The author addresses the challenges and oportunities associated with inflation targeting as a monetary policy framework The study focuses on two major international economic policy issues 1 the implications for the world economy of the adoption of inflation targeting by the G3 central banks and 2 whether the framework is a viable option for emerging market economies and what the implications would be for IMF supported stabilization programs P 4 of cover □□□□□□□□□□ □□□ □□□□,2007-03
