Postmodernism - Local Effects, Global Flows Vincent B. Leitch, 1996-07-01 Offers readable case studies in postmodern economics philosophy literary criticism feminism pedagogy poetry painting historiography and cultural studies showing disorganization as characteristic of postmodern times Forms of Education Emile Bojesen, 2019-11-28 Forms of Education analyses the basic tenets of the humanist legacy in terms of its educational ethos examining its contradictions and its limits as well as the extent of its capture of educational thought It develops a broader conception of educational experience which challenges and exceeds those limits This book deflates the compulsion to educate It delegitimises the imposition of any particular practice in education It defines education openly and non restrictively as the de formation of non stable subjects arguing that education does not require specific formations nor the formation of specific forms only that form does not cease being formed in the experience of the non stable subject Exploding and pluralising what amounts to education this book rethinks what might still be called educational experience against and outside the ethos of the humanist legacy that confines its meaning This book will be of interest to scholars and postgraduate students in the fields of philosophy of education educational theory history of education and sociology of education Before the Law Jacques Derrida, 2018-10-23 Thinking judgment in relation to the work of Jean Fran ois Lyotard How to judge Jean Fran ois Lyotard It is from this initial question that one of France s most heralded philosophers of the twentieth century begins his essay on the origin of the law of judgment and the work of his colleague Jean Fran ois Lyotard If Jacques Derrida begins with the term pr jug s it is in part because of its impossibility to be rendered properly in other languages and also contain all its meanings to pre judge to judge before judging to hold prejudices to know how to judge and more still to be already prejudged oneself Striving to contain that which comes before the law that is in front of the law and also prior to it how to judge Jean Fran ois Lyotard then becomes perhaps a beneficial attempt for Derrida to explore humanity s rapport with judgment origins and naming For how does one come to judge the author of the Differend How does one abstain from judgment to accept the term pr jug s as suspending judgment and at once as taking into account the impossibility of speaking before the law prior to naming or judging If this task indeed seems insurmountable it is the site where Lyotard s work itself is played out Hence this sincere and intriguing essay presented by Jacques Derrida published here for the first time in English French Composition and Conversation Joseph Brown, Dwight Ingersoll Chapman, 1928 French Conversation-grammar Emil Otto, 1895 Writing and Reading Differently George Douglas Atkins, Michael L. Chardenal, 1878 The Morality of Knowledge in Conversation Tanya Stivers, Lorenza Mondada, Jakob Steensig, 2011-06-02 Each time we take a turn in conversation we indicate what we know and what we think others know However knowledge is neither static nor absolute It is shaped by those we interact with and governed by social norms we monitor one another for whether we are fulfilling our rights and responsibilities with respect to knowledge and for who has relatively more rights to assert knowledge over some state of affairs This book brings together an international team of leading linguists sociologists and anthropologists working across a range of European and Asian languages to document some of the ways in which speakers manage the moral domain of knowledge in conversation The volume demonstrates that if we are to understand how speakers manage issues of agreement affiliation and alignment something clearly at the heart of human sociality we must understand the social norms surrounding epistemic access primacy and responsibilities
