Reading Christian Scriptures in China Chloe Starr, 2008-04-02 This volume sets out to examine how Christian scriptures have been read within a Chinese reading tradition and to assess what questions such readings pose for both theologians and Chinese studies specialists The absence to date of publications on the topic and the scattered nature of such research and of scholars in the field makes this an important contribution to debate The volume gathers essays from Biblical studies experts together with theologians and Chinese text scholars to discuss the interdisciplinary questions raised Essays from mainland Taiwanese and diasporic Chinese scholars ensure that a range of opinions including those reflecting fault lines between academic and confessional positions are presented Within the four sections of the volume several papers discuss and correct the current lineage of historical readings while others study the historical impact of the Bible in Chinese society Four essays give contextual or cross cultural readings with a focus on individual exegetes mainly from the early twentieth century The power of performance is raised in two essays one comparative paper on Christian and Buddhist scriptures from the Qing dynasty and one on the singing of psalms in modern day Taiwan and Macao Moral questions preoccupy others including the challenges that early Chinese converts found in Biblical laws or Christian guidance on concubinage and extrinsic readings of the Sermon on the Mount

Desire for God and the Things of God Wyndy Corbin Reuschling,2012-09-21

For many Christians spirituality and ethics are in separate mental and experiential compartments Spirituality may be understood as an inner experience while ethics is focused on decisions or positions on issues Both of these views reduce spirituality and morality in Christian faith and practice and ignore the centrality of desire for God and the things of God as key focal points for spiritual and moral formation These aspects of Christian formation must be located in their scriptural and theological contexts in order to understand more fully what God desires for human life This focus on desire provides content and context to Christian spirituality and morality We are drawn outward to focus on God and the good of others while we learn to embody virtues such as compassion courage self control gratitude humility and hope Practices are crucial ways by which we learn to incarnate our ultimate desire of love for God and for what God desires in the pursuit of justice and goodness for all creation In so doing practices enable us to more fully integrate spiritual and moral growth in the processes of our desire for God and the things of God
