Baleen Basketry Of The North Alaskan Eskimo:

Baleen Basketry of the North Alaskan Eskimo Molly Lee, 2015-09-14 Baskets made of baleen the fibrous substance found in the mouths of plankton eating whales a malleable and durable material that once had commercial uses equivalent to those of plastics today were first created by Alaska Natives in the early years of the twentieth century Because they were made for the tourist trade they were initially disdained by scholars and collectors but today they have joined other art forms as a highly prized symbol of native identity Baskets of exquisite workmanship often topped with fanciful ivory carvings have been created for almost a century contributing significantly to the livelihood of their makers in the Arctic villages of Barrow Point Hope Wainwright and Point Lay Alaska Baleen Basketry of the North Alaskan Eskimo originally published in 1983 was the first book on this unusual basket form In this completely redesigned edition it remains the most informative work on baleen baskets covering their history characteristics and construction as well as profiling their makers Illustrations of the basketmakers at work and line drawings showing the methods of construction are a charming addition to this book which belongs in the library of all those with an interest in the art of basketry and in Alaskan Native arts in general

Native American Basketry Frank Porter, 1988-04-27 This bibliography includes more than 1 100 entries from books journals newspaper articles and dissertations concerning North American Indian basketry More general cultural works with some information on basketry are also included and the materials date from early ethnographic work in the late 19th and early 20th centuries to 1987 The introduction offers a good overview of research in Native American basketry and although the annotations vary greatly in thoroughness and length they are generally useful This unique well produced bibliography is recommended for collections supporting programs in anthropology crafts or Native American Studies Choice Interest in Native American basketry dates from the late 1800s when an enthusiastic public together with curators academic collectors and archaeologists first began to appreciate the value and uniqueness of these beautiful hand crafted artifacts This bibliography is the first comprehensive guide to publications on the subject Organized by major cultural areas of North America it offers annotated listings of books journal articles dissertations theses monographs and selected newspaper articles published over the last 100 years In his introductory essay Porter discusses the history of Native American basket making and the findings and views of some of the anthropologists archaeologists and popular writers whose works contribute to our knowledge of the subject The bibliography is divided into eleven sections each dealing with a specific geographical cultural area Entries are cross referenced and a comprehensive index gives convenient access to authors titles and subjects

The North Alaskan Eskimo Robert F. Spencer, 1969 An Annotated Bibliography of Inuit Art Richard C. Crandall, Susan M. Crandall, 2015-07-25 Archaeological digs have turned up sculptures in Inuit lands that are thousands of years old but Inuit art as it is known today only dates back to the beginning of the 1900s Early art was traditionally produced from soft materials such as whalebone and tools and objects were also fashioned out of stone bone and ivory because these materials were readily available The Inuit people are known not just for their sculpture but for their graphic art as well the most prominent forms being lithographs and stonecuts This work affords easy access to information to those interested in any type of Inuit art There are annotated entries on over 3 761 articles books catalogues government documents and other publications

The Pacific Region Jan Goggans, Aaron DiFranco, 2004-12-30 Robert Penn Warren once wrote West is where we all plan to go some day and indeed images of the westernmost United States provide a mythic horizon to American cultural landscape While the five states California Oregon Washington Alaska and Hawaii which touch Pacific waters do share commonalities within the history of westward expansion the peoples who settled the region and the indigenous peoples they encountered have created spheres of culture that defy simple categorization This wide ranging reference volume explores the marvelously eclectic cultures that define the Pacific region From the music and fashion of the Pacific northwest to the film industry and surfing subcultures of southern California from the vast expanses of the Alaskan wilderness to the schisms between native and tourist culture in Hawaii this unprecedented reference provides a detailed and fascinating look at American regionalism along the Pacific Rim The Greenwood Encyclopedia of American Regional Cultures is the first rigorous reference collection on the many ways in which American identity has been defined by its regions and its people Each of its eight regional volumes presents thoroughly researched narrative chapters on Architecture Art Ecology Ethnicity Fashion Film Folklore Food Language Literature Music Religion and Sports Recreation Each book also includes a volume specific introduction as well as a series foreword by noted regional scholar and former National Endowment for the Humanities Chairman William Ferris who served as consulting editor for this encyclopedia

THE NORTH ALASKAN ESKIMO A STUDY IN ECOLOGY AND SOCIETY ROBERT F. SPENCER, 1959

Contemporary California Indian Basketry Bev Ortiz, 2008 Baskets have been woven for at least 10 000 years in the area now known as the western United States Originally created by California Indians as utilitarian objects for everyday family use by the late 1800s baskets had become a commodity that provided much needed income Collector interest in baskets resulted in an expanding literature that focused on their collectability promoted their making with largely store bought imported materials and compared their techniques of fabrication While most basketry literature whether scholarly or popular has largely concerned itself with the object form design materials technique and function since 1970 the literature on basketry has begun to shift its focus to the process and the weavers themselves The present study begins by surveying the worldwide literature about basketry with an emphasis on California Indian basketry It recounts the history of the practice of basketry in California which began to decline in the 1930s because of lack of need and interest the economics of the Depression and a desire to not stand out as Indian Attention then shifts to organizational efforts by California Indians since 1940 to reverse this trend By establishing basketry organizations California Indian women sought to gain respect for their cultures within the dominant society while at the same time rebuilding pride among the young Based on 30 years of field research with hundreds of California Indian basketmakers statewide the present study examines the effectiveness of organizational efforts to renew basketry as well as impediments to its continued practice including 1 lack of time to learn and weave and 2 lack of access to properly managed basketry materials growing in safe areas free from chemical contamination After detailing these issues and the solutions that California Indians have devised to resolve them the study illustrates the diverse reasons why California Indians continue to make baskets and the varied ways they learn through the stories of individual weavers including biographies of four elder basketmakers whose influence was widespread The humanity tenacity and resourcefulness of the weavers are highlighted as they continue to find new ways to bring an old practice into the future

The Art of Native American Basketry Frank Porter, 1990-04-10 In recent years Native American basketry has aroused the interest and admiration of individuals from the scholar to the collector It is a complex subject and offers an opportunity to study through time the various changes which transpired in its function form and manufacture Native American Basketry A Living Legacy by Frank W Porter III is the first major study of the subject since 1904 and presents a collection of essays written by those intimately familiar with the basket makers and basketry of North America Illustrated with approximately 80 black and white photographs many of which are historical records of basket makers and their baskets Native American Basketry uses archaeological ethnographic historical and contemporary information in discussing the changes in native basketry from prehistoric times to the present In spite of the wide range of habitats as well as the social and cultural diversity of the basket making tribes it is surprising to discover the similar ways the basket makers adapted basketry after prolonged contact with nonIndian peoples The book is especially well suited not only for the scholar of American Indian art history but cultural history as well Crossroads of Continents William W. Fitzhugh, Aron Crowell, National Museum of Natural History (U.S.), 1988 Series of papers by various scholars under the headings Peoples of Siberia and Alaska Strangers arrive Crosscurrents of time Thematic views New lives for ancient peoples Illustrated by artifacts from many museums which were part of an exhibition of the same name
